Peron Offers To Yield Argentine Presidency

Move Brings Mass Protest By Followers

Dictator Sets the Stage For Demonstration of Party, Labor Backing

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—President Juan D. Peron offered to resign today. The response was mass demonstrations of strength by his followers who insisted that he continue in office.

The President addressed his offer to the Central Confederation of Labor (CGT) and the leadership of his own Peronista party. Both clearly had been primed to receive and reject it.

The long message said:

"The time for fighting has passed. The time has come to work and consolidate our revolutionary gains. I offer my retirement to insure pacification. I do not want to be an obstacle. ... It is not possible to destroy what we have built."

Speaks of Civil War

"They speak of civil war," it continued. "I do not believe it will happen here. There will be peace or dictatorship. I have no taste for dictatorship. If that is the solution, someone else will have to do it."

First word of the message came in a broadcast by Hugo di Pietro, CGT secretary, who summoned workers to the Plaza de Mayo in the heart of the capital and to plazas in other cities and towns and instructed them to remain there until the President withdraws his resignation offer.

Di Pietro also called a general "stoppage of activities" throughout the country for 15 minutes beginning at 5 p.m. today, excluding only essential public services. But offices, stores and factories began closing down soon after he spoke.

His broadcast was followed by speeches by Alejandro Leloir and Mrs. Delia D. de Parodi, presidents of the men's and women's Peronista parties. Both demanded the withdrawal of Peron's offer to step out.

Preparations Made

Preparations for the massing of workers in Plaza de Mayo outside the main government offices had been made during the night. Trucks and buses had been assembled to transport the demonstrators from outlying sections. Reinforced guards armed with field guns were placed at government buildings in the neighborhood and police detachments were spotted strategically. Leaflets printed in advance were ready for distribution.

The crowds began to arrive in the plaza soon after Di Pietro spoke. They chanted, sang and waved banners. Some hoisted an Argentine flag on the pole in the plaza's center. Those nearest the government offices chanted "Peron, Peron."

Grandval Resigns

Top French Officer For Morocco Quits

PARIS (AP)—France today announced the resignation of Gilbert Grandval, her top administrative officer in her troubled Moroccan protectorate.

As expected, Gen. Pierre Boyer de Latour was named to succeed Grandval as resident general. The general has been resident general in Tunisia.

Grandval, who went to Rabat July 7 with orders to relax French rule, built up popularity with many Moroccan nationalists but drew the ire of European residents of the protectorate who oppose giving the natives a stronger hand.

The colonists blamed his "weak" policy for the native uprisings Aug. 20 in which more than 1,000 Moroccans and French were killed. Neutral observers considered the uprisings were due to the French government's delay in granting some measure of self-rule to the nationalists.

The French hope that Boyer de Latour, who for many years held military commands in Morocco, will satisfy both nationalists and French colonials. During his tenure in Tunisia, the French granted the protectorate a large measure of home rule. While he was in Morocco, Boyer de Latour used a firm hand against unruly Moroccans.

Also slated for displacement is the aged, unpopular Sultan of Morocco, Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafa. He was installed by the French two years ago when they exiled his pro-nationalist relative, Sultan Mohammed Ben Youssef, to Madagascar. Since then Ben Youssef has become the focus for nationalist feeling in the protectorate.

The French plans call for formation of a Moroccan government representing all factions by Sept. 12.

First Polio Case Recorded Here

Mrs. Thomas Myers, Mother of 2, Is Victim

A 22-year-old mother of two children has become the first victim of polio in Marion, city and county.

Dr. M. M. Weinbaum, city health commissioner, reported today that illness of Mrs. Thomas Myers of 684 E. Church St. was confirmed as paralytic polio in University Hosptial at Columbus Tuesday.

Mrs. Myers first became ill and noticed a stiffness in her neck on Sunday and was taken to University Hospital on Monday.

An attending nurse at University Hospital said that Mrs. Myers has a weakness in both arms and that the polio attack is still in its first stages.

Dr. Weinbaum said that the Myers home has been quarantined. Mrs. Myers has a two-year-old daughter, Brenda, and an infant son, Thomas.

No other cases of polio have been reported in either the county or city this year. A total of eight cases was reported in the city and county last year with the first reported case occurring on Aug. 19 and the last reported on Sept. 29.

Layoff Wage Plan Drafted For Chrysler

UAW Set To Conclude Contract Negotiations With Last of the 'Big 3'

DETROIT (AP)—A contract agreement that would head off a threatened strike of 139,000 Chrysler Corp. employes and complete the lineup of the Big Three auto companies on layoff pay plans appeared in the making today.

Negotiators for Chrysler and the CIO United Auto Workers go back to the bargaining table to hammer out final details.

The union has set a strike deadline of midnight tonight, but it is expected to stretch it a bit if necessary to reach a peaceful settlement.

Familiar Pattern

That was done in negotiations with both General Motors and Ford, the other Big Three companies, before precedent-setting layoff pay plans and other major contract benefits were given to the union in early June.

Chrysler and the UAW reportedly have reached agreement on a plan that would guarantee laid-off workers 60 to 65 per cent of regular take-home pay for up to 26 weeks of idleness. This and other terms of the new Chrysler agreement are expected to follow closely the Ford and GM contracts.

Ford and GM also gave the union wage increases ranging upwards from 6 cents an hour, improved pension plans and other benefits. The average industry wage was about $2.10 an hour when this round of negotiations began.

As the Chrysler talks pushed on, UAW negotiators sought to end two strikes idling 60,000 members and to avert a walkout which would idle 24,000 others at American Motors Corp.

Seeking Layoff Plan

The union is seeking layoff pay plans and other "pattern" benefits in these disputes too. This was the situation:

Bendix Aviation Corp.—UAW and company negotiators still were closeted early today seeking to settle a four-day strike of 20,000 Bendix workers at five plants—Detroit; South Bend, Ind.; Teterboro, N. J.; Elmira Heights, N. Y., and North Hollywood, Calif. A union official said the talks were in "a very active stage."

Claims Egypt Might Violate Truce Terms

Demands Cairo First Accept Responsibility For Frontier Clashes

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israel balked today at agreeing to a cease-fire along the Gaza frontier and demanded that Egypt first accept responsibility for the violence in the border area during the past week.

Egypt had agreed late Tuesday to a cease-fire beginning at 6 p.m. local time Tuesday. It seemed virtually certain, however, that the Cairo government would reject the Israeli demand.

No Confidence

An Israeli spokesman said today his government has no confidence in Egypt's promise to stop shooting, given in response to an appeal to both nations from Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, chief of the U.N. Palestine truce commission.

Premier Moshe Sharett's government, the spokesman continued, had replied to Burns with a request that he obtain the Egyptian government's acceptance of responsibility for the past week's "deep penetrations into Israel by terrorist units of the Egyptian armed forces waylaying and killing civilians, planting mines and seeking to terrorize our population."

The announcement from the U.N. truce commission said Burns, after receiving the Israelis' reply, had tried to get them to go ahead with a cease-fire order because Egypt "in agreeing to the cease-fire had also agreed to put a stop to all raiding, sabotage and mining."

Israeli Position

"The Israeli authorities, in view of further incidents reported during the evening of Aug. 30, were doubtful of whether to accept the proposal and it was stated the final decision would not be made until the morning of Aug. 31," the U.N. announcement said.

The Israeli letter to Burns, which was signed by Arthur Lourie, deputy director general of Israel's Foreign Ministry, also demanded that Egypt give "guarantees for immediate, complete and definitive cessation of all further hostile acts."

Burns' cease-fire proposal had been backed by appeals from the United States and Britain to end the fighting.

Violence along the Egyptian-held Gaza Strip continued. A total of 21 Israelis and eight Egyptians have been reported killed there since last Thursday.

An Israeli military spokesman said infiltrators had fired after

Schools in City And County Set To Begin Term

Rural Classes To Open Tuesday; First Marion Session on Wednesday

School will open for students in Marion city and county next week, ending the three-month summer vacation.

First to troop back to the schools will be children in the county, where classes resume Tuesday morning. The city school children, including those at St. Mary School, will go back to school Wednesday morning.

Enrollment Increases

Enrollments are expected to increase this year in the city schools. A preliminary estimate made last spring indicates there will be about 6,926 students in the city schools, compared with 6,523 enrolled last year.

Pupils at St. Mary will attend Mass on the opening day of school before starting classes. Classes there are to start about 9 a.m.

Classes in the city schools on Wednesday will last only one-half day, from 8:45 a.m. to noon. A citywide meeting of all teachers is scheduled to be held Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 in the auditorium of Harding High School.

General staff meetings of county teachers have been set in most of the local schools for Monday to give the teachers the program for the coming year.

4 New Cafeterias

New cafeterias in four city schools are in the completion stage, Robert S. Brown, city school superintendent, said this morning. The cafeterias are being constructed in Vernon, Silver St., Glenwood and Oakland Schools.

Brown said they will be open for use by the students as soon as possible. They are being constructed at a price of around $51,-

Asks Joint Inspection

U.N. Group Studies Ike's Military Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Members of the U.N. Disarmament subcommittee today studied a U.S. proposal to merge American and Soviet plans for inspection machinery to prevent surprise attacks.

The new American plan was outlined in detail Tuesday to the five-nation subcommittee by Harold E. Stassen, President Eisenhower's special assistant on disarmament and the U.S. representative at the arms talks which opened here Monday.

Stassen recommended that Eisenhower's Geneva proposal for a Soviet-American exchange of military blueprints and aerial inspection rights be combined with the previous Russian suggestion that ground inspection teams be stationed at key ports, airports and railway and road junctions to check on movements of troops and armaments.

Soviet delegate Arkady A. Sobolev was expected to comment on the new American plan before the end of the week.

A highly placed American source said if the subcommittee, which also includes representatives of France, Britain and Canada, did not adopt the U.S. plan, approval would be sought in the parent 12-nation Disarmament Commission and in the U.N. General Assembly opening Sept. 20 if necessary.

Stassen told the group yesterday aerial inspection and exchange of defense blueprints, together with ground observer checks, would provide a foolproof safeguard against surprise attack by either Russia or United States.

U.S., Red China Deadlocked at Geneva Parley

GENEVA (AP)—United States and Red Chinese envoys met again today, but apparently failed to break the deadlock over the repatriation of 41 Americans detained by the Peiping regime.

U. Alexis Johnson, U. S. ambassador to Prague, and Wang Ping-nan, Communist Chinese ambassador in Warsaw, announced only that another meeting will be held Tuesday.

The Communists maintain there are Chinese students in the United States unable to return to their homeland although U. S. officials insist all are free to leave. The question of financing return trips for any Chinese who may wish to leave the United States is believed to be under consideration.

City Offices Will Close For Labor Day Weekend

Announcement that all city offices will be closed both Saturday and Monday was made today by Safety-Service Director John Davis.

Purpose of closing the offices Saturday is to give all office employes a longer holiday over the Labor Day weekend, he said. City offices normally are open until noon on Saturdays.

Harry Dexter White File May Launch New Probe

CONCORD, N.H. (AP)—The chairman of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee says a broad inquiry into influences exerted on U.S. policy in China and Europe was aided by a hearing Tuesday on the late Harry Dexter White.

Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss) said also that an "individual" he did not identify will be investigated soon on the basis of documents found in White's summer home in Fitzwilliam, N. H., and turned over to him.

Gathers Data

The material was gathered by New Hampshire Atty. Gen. Louis C. Wyman, who dug into a big cardboard box for an hour and a half at the hearing and produced files of correspondence, official papers and photographs.

White was assistant secretary of Treasury in the Roosevelt and Truman administrations, a post he left in 1946 to become U. S. director of the International Monetary Fund.

White, the center of several congressional investigations into charges he passed information to the Communists, died at his summer home in 1948, three days after he denied before the House Un-American Activities Committee that he ever was a Communist or engaged in espionage.

Among the documents produced by Wyman were:

A communication stamped "secret," sent to Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau Jr. by the Joint Chiefs of Staff Dec. 23, 1942, inviting him to name a representative to a planning group on the formation of an Office of Strategic Services. Morgenthau named White.

Hits Council Statement

Davis Denies City Doing 'Nothing' on Road Work

Marion Safety-Service Director John Davis today took issue with a statement made Tuesday by the State Highway Construction Council, that Marion is "an outstanding example" of smaller cities which "just haven't done anything" to take advantage of council funds available for urban road projects.

The statement was part of a news release that took official notice of occasional friction between the council and the state highway department—both working on the same road program.

EXPRESSING A fear that "many cities in Ohio" won't take advantage of the funds, Clingan Jackson, council chairman, noted that one-third of the half-billion dollars planned for major highway thoroughfare projects has been designated for urban projects. Said Jackson:

"Some cities have made excellent progress with their arterial plans and providing money for their share of the costs of projects. Other cities are far behind."

A COUNCIL spokesman gave this city-by-city breakdown:

"Warren has nothing. Canton and Massillon are slow in producing money. A number of smaller cities just haven't done anything—like Marion, which is an outstanding example.

"Akron has progressed with plans and has a vote scheduled this fall for financing projects. Toledo hasn't 'fixed' the money for its share of the cost. Youngstown is slow getting plans ready.

"Cincinnati is doing the best job of all—has both plans and money ready. Cleveland is doing a pretty good job."

It was the remark concerning Marion with which Davis took

Probable Cost Over $1 Million

4 Plans Offered for Financing Sewers

By CHARLES L. MARTIN

Biggest hurdle Marion must face in considering any over-all improvement project for its sewer system is that of financing.

Although no estimate has been made of the cost of making all necessary improvements, it is likely that a complete program would cost upward of $1-million.

There are four possible methods of raising the necessary money. These include:

1. A sewer use tax. 2 A city income tax. 3. A general obligation bond issue. 4. Establishment of sewer districts with special assessments made on properties on the basis of benefits derived.

Last of a Series

Consulting engineers, Floyd Browne and Associates, believe that the sewer use or rental tax is one of the fairest methods of providing for improved sewer service in the city.

They point out that the use tax places the burden of paying for improvements on the users only. Those who discharge the greatest amounts of sewage into the sewers correspondingly would be charged the most.

THE SEWER TAX may be based on water consumption or on a flat rate for various classes of domestic and commercial users. Industries are sometimes charged relative to the total number of employes.

Browne and Associates estimate that if each domestic user in the city were charged a flat one-dollar a month use tax and industrial users were taxed at the rate of 16-cents for each 100 cubic feet of sewage discharged, the city would realize an income of some $144,000 a year.

This could be used in a number of ways to improve the sewer system, except that it could not, under state law, be used to extend sewers to areas previously without sewers. But income from the tax could be used to retire bonds issued for the construction of new projects including the extension of sewers.

THE SEWER RENTAL or use tax method has advantages over financing from the general fund, Browne and Roberts believe. Service charges, which according to law must be "fair and equitable," place the burden where it belongs, on the user, in proportion to the use made of the system, they explain. Knowledge and experience has shown that assured, adequate income is the best means of maintaining the system against pre-mature depreciation and of providing adequate service, they add.

Another advantage to the sewer use tax method of financing is that it may be imposed by City Council and is not subject to a referendum vote by the electors. This

Higher Wheat Yields Lower Market Price

Extension Expert Says Hike in Crop Estimate Brings Payment Drop

COLUMBUS — Recent weakness in wheat prices was caused by larger wheat crop yields than expected, says L. E. Folsom, extension economist at Ohio State University.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture, on July 1, estimated the 1955 crop at 860 million bushels. This estimate was revised upward, after completion of harvest, to 911 million bushels.

Old crop wheat, held over from previous years, in storage at various points in the U. S. on July 1 totaled 1,020 million bushels. Of that amount, 958 million bushels was owned by the CCC. Practically all the rest of carry over wheat was under CCC loan. The only "free wheat" was 1955 crop wheat, according to Folsom.

The July 1 estimated crop was only five million bushels more than the 855 million bushels used and exported during the previous year. Nearly six million bushels of new crop wheat had been placed under CCC loans by July 15.

Therefore, free wheat, that moving through the markets, appeared quite scarce. Market prices had to stay at or above CCC loan levels to keep free wheat in the markets to supply needs.

With the August 1st increase in the crop estimate, an additional supply of 50 million bushels was seen. Prices declined below loan levels.

Prices will probably remain somewhat under price support levels until this added supply has disappeared. It can disappear by an increase in wheat placed under CCC loan, by an increase in exports, increased use of wheat for feed, or a downward revision in crop or supply estimates.

Family Runs Farm While Father Works at Depot

Collmer Children Take Several Fair Prizes With Livestock

Operating an 80-acre farm successfully with the head of the household working every day in another job is quite a task for a family. It is being done without too much difficulty, though, on the Frank Collmer farm in Richland Township.

Collmer works every day at the Marion Engineer Depot. That leaves only evenings and weekends to care for the farmland. The bulk of the job is done by his wife and five children who have teamed up to make the farm a success.

THE SUCCESS of the operation can be seen in a small way by the showing the children made at the Marion County Fair last week. Kenneth, who will be an eighth grader at Claridon School this year, was the owner of the reserve champion market hog of the show.

In addition, he also won ribbons for showing another hog and for several poultry exhibits. In the tractor operator's contest, he was one of four finalists in the county and finished third in the Fair competition.

His sister, Alfreda, was named winner of the county-wide egg grading contest held recently and was to represent Marion County at the state fair contest. She won blue ribbons for her two Ayrshire heifers and several poultry entries Another brother, George, also took several ribbons for a Hampshire sow and several poultry entries.

Kenneth's prize winning sows and a prize winning pen of three hogs, were the offspring of a Chamber of Commerce gilt given the boy last year under the Chamber's pure bred gilt program. The sow had 11 pigs which will be ready for market soon. Two will be kept for future breeding purposes.

Field work on the farm is done by Kenneth and Mrs. Collmer. Alfreda, who is a senior at Claridon, takes care of the chickens and much of the housework. Mrs. Collmer handles the milking of the six mixed dairy cows every day.

THE OTHER children, George, Frank Jr. (Bud), and Rita also have their assigned jobs and help keep the farm running effectively.

All the work on the farm does not hinder other activities of the Collmer children. Alfreda is currently president of the Claridon Tommies 4-H Club, while George and Kenneth are active members of the Claridon Buckeye Lads Club.

Alfreda hopes to go to college next year, with an ultimate goal of becoming an elementary school teacher. The other children still have time to make their plans for the future.

Kenneth has found time this summer to help out some of the neighboring farmers, despite the work he does on his own place. At present, he is helping one construct a new tool shed.

Besides the marks made by the Collmer animals at the County Fair, one has been honored by the state. Alfreda entered a young chicken in the state-wide "Chicken of Tomorrow" contest held each year. The animal was awarded a "B" grade for its weight gaining ability.

All the activity keeps everyone on the Collmer place busy, but with teamwork, they are able to get the jobs done effectively.

OPERATING THE FRANK COLLMER FARM is a family operation. Collmer works during the days at the Marion Engineer Depot, so most of the farm work must be done by the five Collmer children and Mrs. Collmer.

LOWER: An experienced tractor operator is Kenneth Collmer who placed third in the county-wide tractor operator's contest at the county fair. Everyone on the Collmer farm has a job to do, and Kenneth finds some extra time to help out neighbors who are short handed.

Steals Policeman's Gun

DALLAS, Tex., (AP)—A thief stole a policeman's pistol during a tavern rhubarb Tuesday and escaped on a bus as the officer missed his weapon. Three policemen chased the bus six blocks through rush-hour traffic to overpower and disarm the 35-year-old man. He tried to draw the revolver aboard the crowded bus as the officers grabbed him.

Milk Booth at Fair Proves Successful

A dairy bar set up at the Marion County Fair last week fulfilled its purpose, according to figures showing amounts of dairy products consumed. The unit was located in a trailer at the north end of the Junior Fair barn. It was run by the Marion County Dairy Service Unit.

There were 4,940 milkshakes sold during the six days of operation, the operators estimated. Approximately 406 gallons of milk and about 60 gallons of ice cream were used in making the shakes as well as in individual milk sales and ice cream bar sales.

All labor at the bar was donated by persons in the county interested in giving the young people at the fair a good supply of dairy products at cost. While most of the customers were the young persons who were exhibiting at the fair, many of the adults visiting the fair patronized the booth.

Ohio Farm Econogram

Business optimism continues. Further increases in economic activity over next several months are forecast Although business picture is bright we shall want to keep close check for any signs of over expansion in some industries.

USDA has emergency loan authority to meet emergency agricultural credit needs of farmers in areas struck by such calamities as the recent hurricane and the accompanying rains and floods. FHA representatives to get first hand information on conditions and needs among farmers Food also to be donated for relief.

—:—

Turkeys — Farmers in U. S are raising a little over 63 million turkeys this year about four per cent fewer than in 1954. Light breeds are 26 per cent of the total being raised this year compared with 29 per cent in 1954 Ohio crop of 2,871,000 turkeys is three per cent under last year

—:—

Timothy seed current supply (production plus carryover) is estimated at 53.1 million pounds, which is 28 per cent larger than a year ago but 18 per cent below average. Production is 42 per cent above last year due to an increased acreage of 60,000 and high yield of 159 pounds. Ohio showed most marked increase where acreage is double last year's and production indicated at 8.4 million pounds (more than double last year's production). Relatively high prices for last year's crop along with high retail prices this spring acted as an incentive to harvest more timothy seed this year.

Potato program announced by USDA will assist potato industry to dispose of extra large 1955 crop (399 million bushel compared with 365 million bushel last year). Payments available only in states which submit a satisfactory marketing plan. Under the program the schedule of payments would be: 50 cents per hundredweight through Dec. 31, 1955; 40 cents per hundredweight through March 31, 1956 and 30 cents per hundredweight April through June 1956. Potatoes must grade No. 2 or better and be a minimum of two inches in diameter. Program is responsibility of the industry.

Wheat exported for grain in 1954-55 totalled 223.4 million bushels: of these 22.3 million bushels were hard red spring wheat; 87.9 million bushels hard red winter; 58.9 soft red winter; 52.3 million white and two million bushels mixed wheat. Ohio produces only soft red winter wheat. Exports of this class amounted to about 29 per cent of total production.

Wheat sold by U. S. under International Wheat Agreements in 1955-56 season amounted to 12.8 million bushels by Aug. 23 compared 20.6 million bushels in same period last year. U. S. guaranteed quota of sales this year is 196.5 million bushels.

—:—

Cotton acreage this year was cut 14 per cent but record yields of 367 pounds per acre may produce a crop in 1955 of 12.6 million running bales, seven per cent less than in 1954.

Hog Producers Face Problem In Pork Prices

Present Output of Pigs Too High To Warrant Increase During Fall

COLUMBUS — Hog producers are confronted with an economic problem in higher mathematics this fall. A bumper corn crop is evidently in prospect. Normally, high corn production would cause farmers to increase hog numbers.

In this case, however, hog numbers are already relatively high. Further complicating the situation is the fact that the nation's meat supply is already of near record proportions, too. These factors are likely to keep hog prices relatively low.

Consequently, C. W. Hammans, extension livestock marketing specialist at Ohio State University, thinks there is a strong likelihood that any tendency to increase hog numbers above market numbers presently anticipated for 1956 may be checked, despite the probability of a big corn crop.

U. S. Department of Agriculture economists agree. They, too, think any inclination to produce more hogs for the 1956 market will be tempered by the prospect of low prices for hogs.

The big corn crop is a result of some overplanting of corn acreage allotments last spring. Many farmers did so deliberately, expecting to feed the extra corn to hogs. Growing conditions this season, however, have been such that in some sections of the country yields may run higher than expected. The nation's corn crop estimate on July 1 was 3.4 billion bushels. This would be a sixth higher than last year's production, but slightly under the record crop of 1948.

Latest estimates of Ohio's corn production this year placed the total crop at 223 million bushels. Those who overplanted their allotments cannot put their corn under price support loans. They will either have to sell on the open market, or feed the corn. Hence, the stumper question: Shall we sell cheap corn or feed cheap hogs?"

NEW PLANE 'SHAVES' A BARRIER. Landing down-wind in a stiff breeze, the Air Force's new C-123 assault transport "shaves" a 50-foot barrier marker as suitability tests are begun at Elgin Air Force Base, Fla. The C-123 is designed to land and take off in front line areas on short, unimproved runways, carrying in supplies and evacuating wounded.

Several Major Issues

Wildlife Group Praises Congress for New Laws

WASHINGTON — The most important conservation achievement of the recent session of Congress was a law to stop bogus mining claims on the national forests and other public lands of the West, according to the National Wildlife Federation.

The new mining claim law permits a prospector to work his diggings but otherwise preserves the right of the government to manage the timber and other surface resources. It also sets up a procedure involving public notices and hearings for clearing up many false claims that now clutter the public lands.

Under the old law it was possible for a person to stake out a summer homesite, post a good trout stream for personal use, or get control of valuable timber — all under pretense of looking for minerals.

Congress Commended

In a summary of the session, the Federation also commended Congress for passing a bill to release $13½ million of earmarked wildlife funds that had been tied up in the Treasury for ten years. The impounded funds, collected from a tax on sportsmen's guns and ammunition, accumulated when Congress failed to appropriate the full receipts during the World War II years.

The $13½ million will be allocated to the states and territories during the next five years in addition to regular federal-aid wildlife funds. The money can be used for acquisition and development of game lands, wildlife research and management.

A bill to extend and modernize the 1948 Water Pollution Control Act passed the Senate but failed to win House action in the closing days of the session. Unless the measure passes early next year the federal pollution program will lapse, as the old law expires next June 30.

Conservationists took a defeat, the Federation said, when Congress approved an Army plan to take over 10,700 acres of the Wichita Mountains National Wildlife Refuge in Oklahoma as an addition to Fort Sill. They are still hopeful the Secretary of Interior may find a way to block transfer of the lands.

Bill Killed

The House Interior Committee killed a plan for building Echo Park dam as a result of widespread protests by supporters of the National Park system. Echo Park dam, planned to impound water in the Green and Yampa canyons of Dinosaur National Monument, was one of several big reservoirs proposed in a bill to authorize the so-called upper Colorado River project. The Senate passed the bill with Echo Park dam in it, but the measure never came to a vote in the house.

The Federation noted with satisfaction 10 per cent increases in appropriations for the Fish and Wildlife Service, the National Forest Service and Soil Conservation Service. The National Park Service got a 40 per cent increase, mostly earmarked for road construction in the parks.

Congress added $700,000 for sanitation and care of public campgrounds in the National Forests but still "failed to come to grips" with the recreational-use program, according to the Wildlife Federation. It recommends passage of a bill to earmark 10 per cent of National Forest receipts for public - use facilities and wildlife habitat improvements.

Future Work

The Federation predicted that organized sportsmen and other conservation groups would be working for the following in the second session of the 84th Congress:

1. Final passage of the water pollution control bill.
2. Amendments to plug loopholes in the Coordination Act of 1946, a law which requires study and reports on the fish and wildlife effects of federal dams and drainage projects.
3. Legislation to halt federal subsidies for drainage of waterfowl marshes.
4. Earmarking 40 per cent of Duck Stamp (migratory bird hunting license; receipts for acquisition of waterfowl areas.
5. Legislation spelling out multiple-use management of the national forests and providing adequate funds for wildlife and public recreation.

The Federation, an organization of state wildlife federations and sportsmen's leagues, warned conservationists to "take a good look" at H. R. 6815, a bill reported by the House Agriculture Committee, which would force early sale of some 7,000,000 acres of submarginal lands acquired under the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act.

Normal Trend Of Hog Market Switched in '55

Prices Drop at Time Of Normal Rise; Early Selling Seen as Cause

COLUMBUS — Somebody threw a monkey wrench in the hog-marketing machinery last year. The line on the live pork price chart zigged when it should have zagged. When it did zag it went further than farmers expected—and the same thing is happening this year.

In "normal" years, farmers expect high hog prices in July and August, C. C. Bowen said today. The extension marketing specialist at Ohio State University pointed out that 1954's high prices came in April and May — about three months early. This year, Chicago hog prices reached a high in June.

Some Similarity

"To date," Bowen said, "there is similarity between this year's live hog price pattern and last year's." There were even more early farrowings this year than in 1954. Early farrowing produced more early marketing.

Then came July — one of the hottest in history — especially in eastern cities. "When this happens," Bowen said, "people slow down on eating pork. On top of that farmers will market nine per cent more hogs the last half of this year than they did after July 1, 1954."

Prices Dropped

Hog prices, instead of going up in July — as in normal years, dropped even lower. Many farmers took lower prices than they expected.

Orderly marketing probably is the best protection farmers can use against similar situations in the future according to the marketing specialist. He suggested selling hogs when their weight is right — 200 to 210 pounds — and keepig in touch with the local market.

Marketing at the right weight will save feed and time and keep hogs out of the heavier weight brackets — provide consumers with more lean pork. The farmer who keeps in touch with his local market will have better idea of prices.

Bowen said early farrowing, marketing at correct weight, producing meat type hogs that yield quality pork, and keeping in touch with local markets will pay dividends — in any year.

State Hog Day Set for Sept. 9

WOOSTER — Ohio Swine Day will be held at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station Friday, Sept. 9.

Both morning and afternoon programs will emphasize what hog raisers can do to market a good meat-type animal through newer breeding and feeding practices.

Swine specialists W. L. Robison and H. S. Teague of the station's animal science department will discuss summer pastures, full and limited feeding, amounts of protein, and how to manage the breeding herd.

Tours are scheduled at the station's new swine research center during the forenoon. Visitors will also see demonstrations on the lean meter as an aid in selecting meat type breeding stock.

Listed on the afternoon speaking program are Director L. L. Rummell, F. G. Ketner, chairman of the board of control, and L. A. Kauffman, chairman of the station's animal science department.

Registration for the field day event will begin at 9:45 a.m. EST. A Wayne County grange will serve lunch.

Steer Sale Tops Ohio State Fair Card Thursday

Annual Competition In Beef Raising Major Livestock Attraction

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Judging of dairy and beef cattle continues at the Ohio State Fair today with the annual steer sale—one of the top events of the big exposition scheduled for tomorrow.

The national Hampshire Sheep Show with entries from five states goes on today along with a 4-H style show and special events marking the Ohio fair managers' program.

Steer competition — the hardest fought in beef raising—reaches its most exciting moment with the annual sale.

The winners of various cattle judging events at the eight-day exposition will be on hand to get the most money for their champion entries.

It takes years to breed and raise these beef - on - the - hoof, and for some owners it's like parting with a favorite pet.

Top Steer

One winning entry which probably will be up for sale is the 1,025-pound Aberdeen Angus with which Jack Weseli of Columbus Grove in Paulding County yesterday won the Grand Champion Steer competition.

Weseli, the 20-year-old open class winner and junior fair reserve grand champion winner at last year's state fair, was awarded the steer banner and the Borden trophy in class. He had come out on top in the 4-H and FFA grand champion steer competition. The day before he had won the open steer class title as a stepping stone to the crown. Weseli's reserve champion last year brought 82 cents a pound.

Kermit Kemmer, 18, of Lancaster, a first-time exhibitor at the fair, took the 1955 reserve championship with a 975-pound Hereford. The Kemmer entry earlier had won the grand champion Hereford crown in open class competition and the open reserve championship over all breeds.

Decides To Sell

"I'd like to take him (his entry) back to the (Fairfield) county fair," said Kemmer, "but I guess we'll have to sell him here." He said he's use the money to enter college.

In other cattle judging events yesterday, Silas and F. W. Lammers of New Knoxville won the Brown Swiss Class championship in the Grandma class for cattle born before July 1, 1945. Silas Lammers earlier had won the third All-American Brown Swiss Futurity at the fair.

Junior fair winners included James M. Bouton, Mount Vernon, who took the reserve championship in the FFA Guernsey competition.

Last night's $300 Western Pony championship dominated the fair's horse show. The winner was the Calico Kid, owned by Robinson Pony Farm of Dunkirk. Sh-Boom of the Brownlee Stables, North Lima, won the reserve championship.

Cautious on Finances

With attendence booming at the fair, Manager Sam Cashman still declined to "stick my neck out" in predicting whether the exposition will wind up in the black this year.

Cashman attributed increased attendence over last year to the newly instituted "Parade of Stars" show, among other things. The "Parade" tonight features Bill "Davy Crockett" Hayes, television singing star and recording artist.

Cashman gave major credit for the fair to a special study group appointed last year to better the exposition.

"I think the people are in good spirits about what they are seeing here this year," he said.

Weather Report

Partly cloudy today. Generally fair and cool tonight and Thursday. Low tonight 48-55.

Results of the judging were released today by Fair officials. The event was held Saturday at Columbus.

Receiving "A" grades for displaying top lightweight pen of three hogs were Richard Gix and Gene Isler, both of near Prospect. Fred Isler of near Prospect received a "B" grade in the event.

In the heavy pen of three market hogs, Jon Showmaker of near Plain City and Cloyd Jones of near Dola in Hardin County were given "A" grades.

Duane Thompson's hog placed second in the champion pen market hogs class. He is from near Dunkirk in Hardin County. Others who placed high in the winning lists were Glen Rickenbacher of Forest, Paul E. Rickenbacher of Forest, Rex Redding of Kenton, Gene Isler of near Prospect, Ralph Strohl of Cardington and Bill Castro of Edison, all with "A" grades.

Receiving "B" grades were Tom Vollrath of Marysville, Richard Gix and Fred Isler of Prospect, Charles Ziegler of Kenton, Jerry Oates of Dunkirk, Doyle Smith of Galion, Kenneth McNutt of Dunkirk, Jon Shoemaker of Plain City, Howard Thomas of Marysville, Cloyd Jones of Kenton, Gary Stair of Dola and the Cardington FFA Chapter.

Donald Gix of near Prospect received a "B" grade for his entry in the pen of three lightweight market hogs class.

Claridon Holsteins Win

Marion County was well represented in the Holstein class of the Junior Fair Tuesday at the Ohio State Fair.

Three registered Holsteins owned by Stanley M. Lawrence of the Lawrence Farms near Marion won three blue ribbons in the event. The animals were raised as a Claridon School vocational agriculture project.

Two of the animals won grand champion and reserve grand champion respectively. This was the fifth time a Lawrence cow has won the grand championship of the class.

A large first-place banner was also won by Marion County in the county group of five animals. This was the fourth time the county has received the banner.

The animals were shown by Miss Jo Earl, Miss Diana Smith, Gene Zachman and Stanley Lawrence, all of Claridon.

Howard Issler of near Prospect was also one of the exhibitors in the show Tuesday.

Traffic Cases

Four drivers were assessed a total of $60 and costs in Marion Municipal Court Tuesday.

The drivers and charges against them were: D. L. Smith, 23, of Charleston, W. Va., crossing over a yellow line; J. J. Sabo, 39, of Bucyrus, speeding; Lowana B. Orcena of near Marion, illegal parking on the highway, fine and costs suspended, and W. T. Minnick, 28, of 408 E. Fairground St. failure to register a trailer, fine and costs suspended.

issue. He said it is not true, that Marion is now making an engineering traffic survey with an eye to making use of state funds in any construction projects recommended as a result of the survey.

This traffic survey is being conducted by the engineering firm of Browne and Roberts. Currently the firm is making a traffic count on various city streets as part of the overall survey. The state highway department conducted an origin and destination study on state highways leading into Marion which also will be incorporated as a part of the engineering survey.

All this served to disprove the council statement that Marion is one of the smaller cities which are doing nothing to make use of council funds for urban road projects, Davis said.

Whether or not the city ever makes use of the available funds will depend on the recommendations made in the report of the survey. Before the city may apply for council funds, it must first obtain its share of the cost of any project.

In addition, completion of the survey may not come for several weeks. Recommendations for improvements will depend to some extent on outcome of a state highway department study now underway as to the feasibility of a north-south turnpike spur passing just east of Marion.

IN THE BALANCE of the news release, Jackson said the council "has full confidence" in the highway department and its officials. He said:

"The highway department has moved so rapidly on occasion that it has failed to get proper authorizations from the council. This has resulted in some tangles between the department and the council, but they have been worked out to the best interests of the state's highway department."

In recent months there have been newspaper reports of friction between the two highway agencies.

The council and department have differed on specific projects, on how much money should be spent and how much work is needed.

RUTLAND, Vt. (UP) — Mayor Dan Healy is a man who believes in old-fashioned New England virtures — particularly thrift.

His budget recommendation of $1,500,000 received quick approval from the board of aldermen. Said a member of the finance committee which studied the recommendation:

Safety Council Forecasts 400 Traffic Deaths

CHICAGO (AP) — A Labor Day weekend traffic death toll of 400 was forecast today by the National Safety Council.

This would be 100 deaths more than would occur if the weekend were not a holiday. The period covered by the estimate will run from 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Monday.

"Our figures on past experience compel us to estimate the Labor Day traffic death toll at 400," Ned Dearborn, council president, said. "But we are convinced those 100 unnecessary deaths—and more—can be prevented if every driver and pedestrian meets the extra danger with extra care."

The council urged drivers to hold down speed, take care in signaling turns and stops to the drivers behind, keep in the right traffic lanes, pass only when there is plenty of room and keep a safe distance from the car ahead.

Peron

The President arrived at his office at his usual early hour. It appeared that he was waiting for the crowd to grow big enough before stepping out on a balcony to address it.

There was no announcement of his resignation offer from his or any other government office.

Workers Warned

Di Pietro warned the workers in his broadcast against violence and outsiders who might infiltrate the gatherings to provoke it.

The general public had no inkling of a crisis afoot until Di Pietro spoke. But in government and labor circles Tuesday night there was unusual activity.

John William Cooke, the Peronista party boss in Buenos Aires, told a party meeting Thursday night the President's followers are prepared to repeat 10 or 20 times the events of Oct. 17, 1945, when thousands of workers staged a nationwide demonstration freeing Peron from prison and vaulting him into the presidency.

The meeting at which Cooke spoke was the second big Peronista rally since the party announced its renewal of political campaigning because the opposition had broken the truce Peron proclaimed last month.

May Bid for Strength

Thus the stage was set for Peron to strengthen his position, seriously weakened after the unsuccessful June 16 revolt staged by navy personnel.

In the past two months there have been seven changes in the Peron Cabinet, while opposition parties have grown bolder with relaxation of restrictions on their activities.

On July 15, Peron announced he was stepping down as leader of the Peronista revolution to become President "of all Argentines — friends and foes alike."

He said then the revolution he led had achieved its objectives and the nation could not remain in a permanent state of revolution. The announcement implied life would be freer for Argentines and the relaxation of controls on his opponents followed.

Studies of tree ring growth in the vicinity of Bismarck, N. D. show the approximate dry and wet periods back to about the year 1400.

Jackson County Man Is Fined After Action By Jury at Gallipolis

GALLIPOLIS, Ohio (AP)—Jackson County Sheriff David L. Trago began serving a one-year sentence in the Gallia County Jail today following his conviction on a morals charge.

A juvenile court jury here last night found the 51-year-old Trago guilty of contributing to the delinquency of Gallipolis Airman David L. Hatfield by making indecent proposals to the 17-year-old youth. The charge is a misdemeanor.

Trago, father of 13 children, sat impassively as Athens County Judge Francis White sentenced him to a year in county jail, plus a $1,000 fine and the cost of the prosecution. White heard the case by assignment.

Maintains Innocence

Just before the judge pronounced sentence, Trago jumped to his feet and said, "I still say I'm not guilty."

Two or three of his children and several relatives wept. Trago's wife, Carrie, wore a bitter expression but showed no outward emotion.

The jury of seven men and five women deliberated three hours and 47 minutes before returning the verdict. Then they were polled and each juror answered that he or she had voted on the decision.

Trago's attorney, John A. Staker of Portsmouth, told a newsman that "appeal is being considered."

Mary Nicholson Snyder, Jackson County prosecutor, said Trago will continue as sheriff until otherwise removed. She added it was her understanding the removal could be accomplished either through a taxpayers' petition to common pleas court or by order of the governor.

Not Certain of Procedure

State Attorney General C William O'Neill said he was not sure of the procedure, and Gov. Frank J. Lausche could not be reached for immediate comment.

In Columbus, Gov. Frank J. Lausche, asked about possible removal of Trago as Jackson County sheriff, made this comment:

"This matter is not at the order of the governor. I would have to file a petition in the Common Pleas Court of Jackson County. A jury would then have to be impaneled and sworn, and removal would require concurrence of two-thirds of the jury.

Sought Legislation

"I wanted legislation in 1951 giving the governor power to conduct the hearing. Instead the Legislature set up this procedure, which is indefensibly heavy for sheriffs and mayors. Prior to that the governor had the power to remove mayors.

"It is sheer poppycock that I am empowered to remove the sheriff myself.

"I haven't studied this particular verdict, and know only what I have read in the morning paper."

During the near month-long trial, the prosecution contended Trago picked up Hatfield near Jackson and drove him to Gallipolis, making immoral proposals along the way.

The young airman testified that when they reached Gallipolis the evening of July 1, Trago parked and repeated the proposal. Hatfield said he struck the sheriff and ran.

Several Gallipolis residents testified they saw a car with the Jackson County sheriff's markings in the vicinity where the offense took place.

Trago, however, denied he was in Gallipolis at the time. He testified he was in Jackson serving legal papers. At least two defense witnesses said they saw him in Jackson at the time the prosecution said the incident occurred.

Sought To Establish Alibi

Special assistant prosecutor William P. Cherrington, summing up to the jury, said Trago had sped back to Jackson to establish an alibi for his whereabouts.

"If he (Trago) is innocent," said Cherrington, "we don't want to keep him from returning to his wife and children. But if he is guilty we do not want to turn him loose on society where he might again molest and kill some little kid to keep his mouth shut."

Trago was acquitted on a similar morals charge in Jackson County several months ago. Sixteen similar indictments are still pending against him.

Trago now is serving the third year of his first four-year term as sheriff in Jackson County, prosecutor Mrs. Snyder said. He is the only Democratic office-holder in the county.

Hiring of new teachers for the coming school year is nearly completed in both county and city schools, although D. T Mills, county superintendent, reported Tuesday night there were still some vacancies in the county system, especially in the commercial field.

Chief Increase

Instruction Costs Boost Budget for City Schools

Principal increase in the school operating budget for 1956, which was approved by the Marion School Board at a special session Monday afternoon, was in the instruction costs.

Robert S. Brown, superintendent of schools, said this morning the continued increase in enrollment in the city schools was responsible for hiking the instruction costs to $1,330,365 for the year.

This year, the cost of instruction, including teachers' salaries and supplies, was estimated at $1,267,838.07.

THE TOTAL estimated budget for 1956 was set at $1,872,455 in expenditures and $1,871,674.13 in income. The budget will be revised and given final approval the first of next year by the school board.

The total budget for this year, as approved in February, calls for expenditures of $1,818,535.93 and an income of $1,861,637.70.

In the estimated budget for the new year, there would be a deficit of $780.87 if the figures approved Monday are made effective early next year.

This year there will be an estimated balance of $43,101.77.

While the costs of instruction go up in the new budget, the operation costs also rise. These include the custodial wages and supplies. The estimated cost of these next year is $222,900, compared with $206,522 this year.

MAINTENANCE costs will go down according to the approved estimates. They are $91,900 this year and will drop to $72,650 next year.

A slight increase is noted in the general control classification of the new budget. This year's cost of administrative supplies and services was $50,035. Next year's is expected to be $51,160.

With the completion of four new cafeterias in the city schools this year, the capital outlay for permanent improvements will show a drop next year. This year the capital outlay was set at $59,000. Next year it will drop to $28,000.

Auxiliary agencies, including the library and health services will receive a slightly higher slice of the 1956 budget. This year those agencies were given $28,311.86. Next year, $32,850 has been specified, for them.

The fixed charges of the budget will rise by about $20,000. The charges include insurance, rent and retirement costs. For 1955, they are $114,929. In 1956, they are expected to reach $134,530.

WHILE THE expenses of providing education for Marion's children are expected to increase next year, the income is also expected to be higher.

Estimated receipts from local taxes are expected to climb from $1,136,462 this year to $1,168,365 next year. The total income including state aid and other sources of revenue, is expected to jump from $1,861,637.70 this year to $1,871,674.13 next year.

Speaking of the budget, Brown said this morning that the budgeting process is the lifeblood of any school system.

"Due to the increased costs of operation and increased enrollment," the superintendent said, "this phase of the school operation should be and is a continuing process. All available funds are used to improve the educational experience of the boys and girls in the community."

Brown added that planning must be done several years in advance in an effort to make the financial operation a sound and profitable one. He pointed out that the books of the board of education are audited yearly by the state department of education and every fraction of the buget must be accounted for.

HE SAID THE board of education evaluates the expenditures monthly and "every effort is made in handling school funds to put them to the most sound educational investment possible."

Speaking of the new method of distribution of state aid to schools, Brown said: "On Oct. 1, 1956, the method of distributing state funds will change from a distribution on a per pupil basis to one of a teacher unit basis. Due to the foresight of the school administration and board of education, the pupil-teacher ratio in the Marion City schools has been kept to one of the lowest in the state.

"This in turn will assure Marion that state subsidies will continue to hold their own and the possibility exists that we may be helped financially to a small degree as a result of the new bill."

Brown said that any additional revenue from the new subsidy program must be used to meet the rising costs of continuing increased enrollment in the city schools.

Members of Rotary Club Hear Photography Talk by Hughes

Marion Rotary Club heard a talk by Dale E. Hughes, professional photographer and a member of the club, at its weekly meeting Tuesday noon at Hotel Harding.

The speaker pointed out that interest in amateur photography has grown immensely in recent years and, because almost everyone has an opinion about it, the task of the professional has become increasingly difficult.

He discussed the focal length of photographic lenses as one of the most important aspects of taking a picture, and pointed out how the changing of lenses can alter the appearance of a picture.

Photography is advancing rapidly, he pointed out, and is becoming quite specialized. The photographer who attempts to meet all types of picture requests has an expensive and difficult occupation, he said.

He concluded his talk by recounting several interesting experiences from his own career as a commercial photographer.

The speaker was introduced by William Hamor, chairman of the club's vocational service committee.

Guests included Dan Guthery of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Robert B. Mautz of Gainesville, Fla., Russell Persing of Clyde, O., Dr. H. R. Finney, Gene Poling, Dick Shanely, Lewis Thompson and Dr. Marvin B. Wolf, all of Marion.

The missing papers carried White's official government number "36." The Secret Service report indicated the missing papers were recovered but did not say where or how.

Israeli sources said two Jews riding in a truck were ambushed and killed on Israel's southern coastal plain north of Gaza last night.

An Israeli army spokesman early today said infiltrators fired on a military vehicle near Savdiel, damaging the car, but the troops were not hurt.

Israel also charged that Egyptian infiltrators blew up a radio tower Monday night near Kubeba, on the coastal plain. A spokesman also reported that infiltrators threw grenades into a house in the Nachalah settlement, wounding one person.

Burns' proposal for a cease-fire was transmitted to Egypt through Col. Salah Gohar, director of the Palestine Department of the Egyptian Ministry of War. A communique said the Egyptian government accepted immediately.

Four Fostoria Men Arrested by Police

Three Fostoria brothers and another Fostoria youth were held Tuesday night by Marion police, three of them on charges of being suspicious persons and the other on charges of intoxication, failure to register a motor vehicle and possession of a switch-blade knife.

Facing the three charges is G. H. Bixler, 27. He was arrested at 3:43 a.m. today at S. Main and Hill Sts.

His two brothers, both charged with being suspicious persons and arrested at the same time and place, are N. E. Bixler, 18, and P. H. Bixler, 19.

The other youth arrested on a suspicious persons charge was C. E. Johnson, 18, also of Fostoria. He was arrested on N. Main St. and told police he had been with the Bixler brothers but had left them on S. Main St. and was attempting to find a ride back to Fostoria.

All four were to appear in Municipal Court today.

Family Service Group To Seat Seven Directors

Election Is Scheduled For Annual Meeting Sept. 22 at Local 'Y'

Seven board members are to be elected at the annual meeting of the Family Service Society to be held Thursday night, Sept. 22, at the YMCA.

The agency is governed by a board of 21 citizens, one-third of whose terms expire each year. The agency's constitution provides that no member may be elected for more than two consecutive terms. Eligibility for board membership is based upon interest in a family agency program.

Board members whose terms expire are Mrs. Ashley Booth, Dr. Robert E. Logsdon, Ellis H. Oiler, J. E. Oliphant, Judge Edward J. Ruzzo, Mrs. Joseph Scandling and Tim Wyant. All are eligible for re-election. Mrs. Booth, Judge Ruzzo, Dr. Logsdon, Oiler and Oliphant are members of the original board.

Wyant was elected in 1953 to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mrs. Mildred Schuetz and Mrs. Scandling was elected this past year to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Ben Salzman. She also serves as secretary of the board.

The nominating committee, headed by Oliphant, will meet on Sept. 6 to select nominees for the board members. Nominations may also be made from the floor at the annual meeting. Miss Vivian Hall and Robert Axe are members of the committee.

An interest in family service is the basis for membership in the Society, with attendance at the annual meetings signifying interest.

Sewers

means that once imposed the tax could be repealed only by action of Council.

The second method of financing possible is the imposition of a city income tax which would feed money into the city general fund which could be appropriated from the general fund to the sewer maintenance and improvement fund.

It has been estimated that a city income tax of but one-half of one per cent (25-cents on $50 a week income would provide the city with an annual additional income of some $250,000.

Could Go in General Fund

This money could be placed in the general fund and then appropriated for whatever purposes council saw fit to spend it. Or in adopting an income tax law, council could earmark certain percentages of whatever income were derived for certain specific uses such as sewers, street repair, recreation and so on.

Like the sewer use tax the city income tax law also could be adopted by City Council but unlike the use tax it would be subject to a referendum vote. This means it could be repealed at the next following general election in the city.

The third method of financing is issuance of general obligation bonds. Unlike the two previous methods this would have to be voted on by the electors at a general or special election.

Would Depend on Millage

Revenue from a general obligation bond issue would depend on the millage imposed. With a present total valuation of property in the city of $70-million, a one-mill tax levy would produce $70,000 a year, two mills, $140,000 and so on.

Establishment of sewer districts and use of special assessments based on benefits derived is the fourth and final method of financing improvement programs.

In this method, council would establish sewer districts based on the natural drainage of a given area. Council could then order sewer improvements made in the district and could assess the cost back to the property owners in the district based on the benefit each would derive from the improvement.

Also under this method the city would pay one fiftieth of the cost and all the cost of any intersections.

Would Be Piecemeal

Generally speaking, however, council would not order any improvements in a district unless the persons in the district petitioned for the improvements.

This method is one which could lead to piecemeal improvements which in turn might do little for over-all improvement.

In conclusion, it is apparent that Marion does have a sewer problem, that this problem may be corrected and that there are four methods of financing the cost of the necessary improvements.

Leninist Policy

By George Sokolsky

Soviet sweetness and light has finally come by a name, "The Leninist Foreign Policy of the Soviet State." The name appears in the speech of the chairman of the Council of Ministers of the U.S.S.R., N. A. Bulganin, on Aug. 5, 1955. Bulganin said:

SOKOLSKY

"The Soviet government delegation at the Geneva Conference consistently pursued the peace-loving Leninist foreign policy of the Soviet State, responding to the vital interests of the Soviet people, and the interests of preserving peace and security in the whole world.

"The very foundation of this policy was, is, and remains the great Lenin principle of peaceful co-existence of states belonging to different social systems. The government of the Soviet Union will undeviatingly continue to pursue a foreign policy directed toward a further easing of tension, toward strengthening trust in relations between states, and toward the preservation of stable and durable peace and security, basing itself on the fact that such a policy responds to the deep-rooted interests and the very great desire of all peoples — the desire for peace and tranquility."

THE USE OF THIS term marks a revolution in Soviet thought and activity which needs to be studied and analyzed. The phrase used to be "Leninist - Stalinist." Both Lenin and Stalin are dead. Stalin is not only dead, he is obliterated How is it possible to wipe away more than 30 years of history?

We are not only to forget history, but the psychology of a people over this long period.

Stalin was a tough guy, but was Lenin sweet and gentle? I used to see Lenin at the Smolny Institute in Petrograd in 1917-18. I sat through the sessions of the Constituent Assembly which was to give the Russian people a constitution — and I saw Lenin smash that meeting as one smashes a glass with his heel.

Nevertheless, there is a reminder of something in the current emphasis on Lenin and the rejection of Stalin.

IT GOES BACK to 1921, when Lenin instituted NEP, the New Economic Policy, a mixed capitalist - socialist policy and procedure, designed to give Soviet Russia time and facilities to establish Socialism as a road to Communism. Stalin smashed the New Economic Policy and instituted a regime of hunger, particularly in the Ukraine, to do by brutality what Lenin hoped to achieve by foreign trade and concessions to foreigners.

So now, under the leadership of Nikita Khrushchev, there is a reversion to the less drastic methods of Lenin, but it comes after Stalinism which altered the map of Europe, eliminated some 15 free countries in the world and made them satellites of the Kremlin, imposed upon the United States what seems to be a permanent military budget and created an unmannerly atmosphere of distrust and even hate among the nations of the earth.

Except for one or two public statements in 1941-42, when Great Britain and the United States went to the rescue of Soviet Russia, Stalin never said anything like this:

"Despite different positions on the essence of the problems under discussion, the heads of government of the United States, Britain, and France, just as we, showed goodwill and a sincere striving to find a common language and to mark paths for the solution of international questions which are most significant for the cause of general peace and security."

So, we are to have an era of goodwill, but when one hears that a sort of voluntary censorship is coming out of Washington to the effect that nothing unpleasant is to be said about Russia or the Russians, true or false, is one not to gain the impression that we are to be brain-washed?

ARE WE NOT to note that the Resolution of the U.S.S.R. Supreme Soviet explains the era of sweetness by the following Soviet victories?

"This easing of international tension was facilitated in the first place by the cessation of the war in Korea, as well as of the military activities in Indochina the concluding of the State Treaty with Austria; the normalization of relations between the U.S.S.R. and Yugoslavia which opened the path for developing friendship and collaboration between the two countries; the successful holding of the conference of countries of Asia and Africa in Bandung; and the visit to the U.S.S.R., Prime Minister Nehru of India, as a result of which friendly relations were still further strengthened between the U.S.S.R. and India."

Bearing Melts, Delays Testing Of New Carrier

ABOARD THE CARRIER FORRESTAL (AP)—Builders of the giant supercarrier Forrestal still hope to deliver the 60,000-ton flat-top to the Navy on schedule next month, even though bearing troubles have forced postponement of full-power speed trials.

Everything was going along fine Tuesday when a propeller shaft bearing melted about 100 miles off Cape Henry, Va.

Because of this, officials of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co. decided to bring the great warship back to home base Thursday, instead of Friday as originally planned. Changed plans now call for the Forrestal to go through her speed paces Sept 19.

All other scheduled tests will continue today

"We still hope to deliver the ship to the Navy on Sept. 29, as scheduled," said H T. Bent, vice president and works manager of the Newport News firm that built the world's biggest fighting ship. Commissioning ceremonies are scheduled Oct 1.

Labor Capitalism

By Victor Riesel

There was a president of the AFL by the name of Sam Gompers who had to go to work in worn bedroom slippers because neither he nor the labor federation could afford a pair of shoes.

VICTOR RIESEL

That was some 70 years ago when the unions were agitating for reforms which they won and now celebrate in the official holiday which gives you this upcoming long weekend.

In 1955, American labor heads into Labor Day as the world's largest, most powerful and wealthiest labor coalition. It is big time capitalism in its own right — with about 1½ billion dollars of its own treasuries and welfare and pension funds invested in Wall Street's common stock.

This billion and a half dollars worth of Stock Exchange securities is in addition to the billions invested in government bonds, high-grade corporate bonds, mortgages, real estate and a small percentage of preferred stock.

THIS IS AN estimate made by experts who have been handling labor's financial investments since the post-war upsurge of union treasuries and the launching of the multi-billion dollar welfare and pension funds.

One of these experts, Martin E. Segal, whose firm manages some 500 such funds and advises scores of unions on investments, discloses that the unions and their funds are actually putting anywhere from 15 to 25 per cent of their money in Wall Street. This survey was completed just a month ago.

It's a long way, indeed, from the days when Sam Gompers used an old freight crate as a desk in a backyard hut for the AFL's office.

Labor can well celebrate, for in the words of its own leader, George Meany, "Labor never had it so good."

THERE JUST IS no way to estimate the full assets of America's unions. Guy Brown, head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, put it this way recently when asked about the wealth of his own influential union:

"No itemization of the financial wealth of this organization has ever been made to my knowledge. Our total financial worth would include various companies, properties, our insurance associations, all owned by the grand office, and then the properties assembled by our local and regional offices.

"I doubt whether any agency, governmental or otherwise, has ever made a study of all these factors concerning ours or any other union . . ."

THIS IS TRUE of almost every union — and virtually every union today has investments of some sort, including, literally, the butchers, the bakers and the candlestick makers.

At this minute the Bakery and Confectionery Union, led by Jim Cross, is exciting interest It has a pension fund into which the employers throw some 4 million dollars a year. There are other contributions — and the total income will soon exceed 20 million dollars annually. In 10 years this Bakery and Confectionery Union and Industry Pension Fund will be worth "anywhere from 75 million to over 125 million dollars," according to pension expert Martin Segal.

WITH SO MUCH MONEY in what really are union funds, there is considerable discussion these days over whether labor will buy into corporations with which it deals. This, too, is a long way from old Sam Gompers' day.

The Bakers are the first to tackle the problem, which will become more intense over the years as the funds of all unions begin totalling scores of billions of dollars. The trustees of the Bakers fund meet in Montreal, probably on Sept. 11, to discuss a formal resolution.

This proposal would legally forbid the fund to invest in any corporation with which the Bakers Union negotiates wage contracts

If this is passed, it will be the first formal move to avert some possible future trend toward labor ownership of industry.

Thus at Labor Day, 1955, union leaders everywhere are meeting with bankers and brokerage house specialists to discuss the investments of billions of dollars. Sam Gompers could have several pairs of shoes were he alive today.

Tribute to a Son

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

For as long as he could remember, 11-year-old Danny Essoyan dreamed of seeing America. Danny, whose grandparents were stateless refugees from Armenia, was born in Shanghai and raised in Hawaii. His father, Roy, an Associated Press newsman in Honolulu, won his U. S. citizenship a few years ago, and it was hard to tell who was prouder that day, father or son.

HAL BOYLE

This summer Roy came to New York in advance of his assignment to the Moscow A. P. bureau. For Danny this was exciting news: On the way to Russia he would at last get to see the United States.

He did see it. He saw it for three wonderful weeks. And then he died—suddenly and unexpectedly—at the height of his happiness Death came to Danny on Aug. 21.

—:—

AFTER HE BURIED Danny here in the land of his boyhood dreams, Roy Essoyan went to his typewriter and wrote the saddest obituary of his newspaper career:

"This is a tribute to the most wonderful boy in the world, my son. He was unique, as every boy is unique—for each is the most wonderful child in the world.

"The great outdoors was his playground and the blue Pacific his swimming pool. He loved to romp in the surf. He was shy and slim but strong-chested and deeply tanned.

"Danny spent his first couple of days in New York City riding up and down the hotel elevator, making friends with the bellboys, running errands for his mother and baby sister, Catherine.

"He explored the 5-and-10 cent stores, the Central Park Zoo, the busy street near the hotel. He went to the Museum of Natural History twice and wandered open-mouthed around the Hayden Planetarium. He went with us to the musical, 'Silk Stockings,' a special treat, and stood agog at Times Square at midnight. At times he baby-sat for Catherine, changed her diapers and helped feed her He took time out from all the exciting things he had to do to play with her.

"DANNY WENT to Rockefeller Plaza, rode the subway and the Staten Island ferry, saw the Statue of Liberty and walked down Fifth avenue.

"A week after we moved out to Bayville, on the shore, he went aquaplaning in Long Island and stood up the first attempt. The day before his alloted time on earth ran out he was a picture of sturdy health and boyish joy. In the morning he ran out to help with the boats that had been battered by the gale.

"Midafternoon he came in, glowing with pride in the work he had done. And we were proud of him Then he went with us for a drive to Sagamore Hill, President Theodore Roosevelt's old home. When we came back, he said he had a sore throat and a headache. He took an aspirin and went to bed He had some temperature, but not enough to mar his cheerful singsong bedtime ritual, 'Good Night, Sleep tight, don't let the bedbugs bite, wake up in the morning bright.'

"THE NEXT MORNING his fever was worse, but he looked out the window and asked if he could go outside and play soon. An hour later, in the ambulance on the way to the hospital, Danny's life came to its unbelievably early end. Practically before we had time to be frightened, Danny and all the hopes and dreams that Danny was were gone.

"Danny lived always in the immediate future, what he could do tonight, where he could go tomorrow, what did we plan next week He was a quiet boy and did not talk much of things far away, the life ahead of things, growing up and learning to be a man. And now . . . Danny will never be a man

"The doctor said it was a sudden overwhelming virus infection —a virus we all carry with us But for some unexplainable reason this sturdy boy's immunity slipped momentarily.

"We know it is God's will He gave Danny to us. And for some reason known only to God, he took him away. All there is of Danny now is what is in our hearts and the hearts of all who knew him.

"His sweetness and gentleness is now a part of all of us, and may God make us the better for it. For when you leave this world what better heritage can you leave behind than the knowledge that you gave yourself to all who knew you? As one dear friend said, we must all be thankful to Danny for he gave us all great joy."

New Floor Care Ends Waxing

One of the difficult jobs of housekeeping is to wax linoleum and asphalt tile floors. Now, thanks to Glaxo, it's no longer necessary to wax and scrub; just apply Glaxo about twice a year. It maintains a high lustre, non slip coating that seals out dirt. Glaxo dries in one hour and is water clear. It's cheaper than wax in the long run, besides saving a terrific amount of work, plus truly a beautiful floor.

Legion in Ohio Bids for Flood Relief Money

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Neighboring Pennsylvanians often pitched in to help Ohio in flood times, so the Ohio American Legion today said it would return the gesture with aid to eastern Pennsylvanians

Legion headquarters here urged the 735 local Ohio posts to collect sheets, blankets, kitchen utensils and canned goods for shipment to flood victims in Pennsylvania

The supplies would be sent to East Stroudsburg and Doylestown, two of the hardest-hit cities in the wake of hurricane Diane

The Ohio Legion, drawing on the disaster relief fund created during the Ohio River floods of 1937, started the drive with a $1,000 check. Legion officials said Youngstown residents, cooperating in a drive started by Youngstown Post No. 15, already have delivered more than 10 tons of canned goods, clothing and furniture to residents of East Stroudsburg.

Each unit would be equipped with armored platforms which could be raised to a second-floor level Bulletproof glass would enable police to look into a room without danger of being shot.

Farm Surplus Is Major U.S. Headache

(The U.S. government is buying up vast quantities of surplus cotton, wheat, corn, rice and dairy products, and is paying out some $20,000 an hour in storage costs.

The result is a king-size headache afflicting politicians, economists and diplomats alike.

To tell the story behind that headache AP reporter Warren Rogers Jr. has written a three-part series.

By WARREN ROGER JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The specter of surplus farm goods haunting the American economy is casting a pall as well over American diplomacy and American politics.

First of a Series

The problem is older than the republic. It grows bigger by the day, and no ready solution is in sight.

A quarter century before the American Revolution the colonial government of Virginia bought up and burned an extra heavy tobacco crop to keep the price from going down.

The U. S government 200 years later still follows this basic price-propping pattern. But it no longer destroys surplus farm goods. It puts them away, at the staggering over-all storage cost of $20,000 an hour.

WHERE DID IT ALL come from —this five billion dollars in excess cotton, wheat, corn, rice, dairy products and other commodities? What's to become of it?

What would happen if all the U. S. surplus were unloaded at fire sale prices? At home, the farm economy would be knocked into a cocked hat. Abroad, exporting countries whose friendships the United States badly needs would be infuriated, perhaps alienated for good, at the sight of their own markets gone glimmering.

And no politician is likely on the eve of the 1956 Presidential year, to forget 1948. That was the year of Harry S. Truman's surprise presidential victory, due in great part to a switch of disgruntled Republican votes in the 11 Midwest farm states.

The ironic truth about the cause of the surplus is that American farmers, with the government underwriting them against the vagaries of nature, are too efficient. Cotton, a chronic headache, is a classic example.

"To hold down cotton production this year we cut the allotted cotton land to 18 million acres — 14 per cent below last year," one government official recalled.

"WELL THE COTTON farmer bought a little more fertilizer, got another tractor and more bug killer. Now we're expecting a record yield per acre, throwing total production to within 7 per cent of 1954."

The law directs that the six basic commodities—corn, cotton, wheat, rice, tobacco and peanuts — must be federally supported at between 82½ and 90 per cent of parity. This means a farmer who cooperates by accepting acreage allotments and marketing quotas will have his produce taken off his hands by the government any time he can't get at least the support price for it in the market place.

In addition to the six basics, tung nuts, honey, dairy products, wool and mohair must be supported at between 75 and 90 per cent of parity. Other commodities are similarly supported as appropriated for.

The reason for all this help to the farmer is that he is considered basic to the economy. Letting his purchasing power slip might start a general down-spiral.

ONE AGRICULTURE Department official said:

"Wheat looks pretty good. We have production in balance with consumption. Our wheat surplus is no longer growing.

"Unless Congress raises the support price — and remember next year is an election year — we can hold the line and wait for a short crop, either here or in a big producer like Canada. Then we could draw off our surplus.

"The livestock industry is eating us out of the corn surplus. The dairy situation is no longer grim. Our only real headaches are cotton and rice."

Cotton is pesky because of competition. It must compete with foreign cotton and all other fibers as well — especially the synthetics like rayon and the new "miracle" fabrics.

Rice simply has no place to go. The American people generally don't care for it, and in areas like Southeast Asia where it is a staple there are friendly nations, such as Burma, already producing it in surplus.

MUSCATINE, Ia. (UP) — Albert Hoeksema took his wife's new wrist watch to the field one day in April 1920 so he could quit plowing early and get a prompt start on an evening buggy ride to Muscatine. He lost the 17-jewel timepiece when it fell from his pocket into a furrow. In April 1955, Ed Wedekind found the watch while working in the same field. The hands and crystal were gone, but Mrs. Hoeksem's initials engraved on it were still plain.

Cleveland in Tie for Second After A's Beat Yankees

Lemon Stops Orioles 7-4; Herb Score To Start Today

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians, again only a half game off the pace, hope to beat the Baltimore Orioles again today before facing the Chicago White Sox in a four game series starting Friday.

The Indians beat the Orioles for the 16th time in 19 games last night, 7-4. Bob Lemon won his 15th game against eight losses. Lemon, who is 3-1 against Baltimore, gave up 12 hits, but the Indians capitalized on eight walks to beat Baltimore starter Jim Wilson for the fifth time.

With a chance to move back into first place, Manager Al Lopez has picked Herb Score as his pitcher today. Score has allowed only three runs and has fanned 25 in winning his three previous starts against the Orioles.

Seeks 14th Win

Young Score, who is 13-10 for the season, pitched a one-hit, 7-0 shutout in his latest start against Baltimore, on July 30. The hit was a single by Jim Dyck. On July 22, the rookie southpaw shut out Baltimore 2-0 on seven hits. On June 2nd, Score beat them 9-3 on six hits. He fanned five in the July 22nd game, and 10 in each of the other two.

His opponent today will be ex-Indian reliefer, Bill Wight, who has lost his two previous starts against his former teammates.

Cleveland's winning runs last night came in the sixth and seventh innings, on five hits and four walks. Three singles and two walks scored three in the sixth. A double play held the Indians to only one run in the seventh, as Wilson was chased by a single, two more walks and Hal Naragon's double. Ted Gray, who relieved Wilson, and George Zuvernik, who came on in the eighth, did not allow any hits.

Al Smith Homers

The Indians took an early lead in the third on Al Smith's two-run homer. The Orioles went ahead 3-2 in the fifth on a walk and three singles, but the Indians tied it in the same inning when Baltimore catcher Hal Smith dropped a fair pop fly to let a run score.

After two were out in the ninth, Lemon gave up two singles and Don Mossi came on to fan pinch-hitter Dyck to end the game.

Charles Listed As Underdog in Jackson Fight

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ezzard Charles, confident he can win and stay in the heavyweight title picture, may be a 2-1 underdog in his televised return match with windmill - swinging Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson tonight.

The 10 round bout in Cleveland Arena between the 34-year-old ex-champion, who is trying a comeback, and the rising, 24-year-old Jackson will be carried nationally at 9 p.m., eastern standard time, on ABC radio and television networks.

Jackson, now third - ranking contender for Rocky Marciano's title, upset Charles by a unanimous decision at Syracuse, N. Y., several weeks ago. The odds in the first fight favored Charles 3-1.

READY FOR THE BIG ONE. The nation's two top thoroughbreds, Nashua, (top) and Swaps (bottom) meet today at a mile and a quarter over the Washington Park track in Chicago. Winner of the match race will take the $100,000 purse. Swaps defeated in their only previous meeting, the Kentucky Derby. In top picture Nashua is ridden by exercise boy Bill McLeary; and in bottom picture Willie Shoemaker is riding Swaps.

To Settle Debate

Nashua and Swaps Meet In Showdown Run Today

CHICAGO (AP)—Nashua from the East and Swaps from the West—possibly the most brilliant 3-year-olds ever to be matched—take off today in what should rank as one of the greatest showdowns in thoroughbred racing history.

They will settle sophomore honors and undoubtedly Horse of the Year recognition in a $100,000 winner-take-all race at 1¼ miles on Washington Park's "neutral" dirt oval.

Each will pack 126 pounds—the same impost, the same distance, and the same jockeys as in their only other 1955 meeting—the Kentucky Derby. In that race, Nashua with Eddie Arcaro up challenged strongly in mid-stretch only to have Willie Shoemaker and Swaps sweep on to a 1½-length triumph in 2:01.8.

Since then, William Woodward Jr.'s Nashua has won the Preakness, Belmont, Dwyer and Arlington Classic for a sophomore record of eight triumphs in nine starts and winnings of $589,700, just $119,707 short of Citation's record as a 3-year-old.

The California-bred Swaps, owned by Rex C. Ellsworth, in the meantime added the Will Rogers, Californian, the Westerner and the American Derby to his list, compiling a record of eight straight victories as a 3-year-old, and earnings of $418,550.

Significant in Swaps' streak was the Californian June 11 at Hollywood Park when Jockey Dave Erb, subbing for the grounded Shoemaker, beat the 1954 Kentucky Derby winner Determine and other older horses by 1½ lengths for the mile and one sixteenth in 1:40.4. It was an American record for the distance.

The match race contenders have worked in spectacular fashion for the showdown and are considered in peak condition. This, parlayed with a forecast of fair and pleasant weather, plus a possible fast track, added up to a "natural" for the race.

The race will be televised and broadcast at 5 p.m., EST, by CBS.

Odds list Swaps at 3-5 and Nashua 6-5.

Yesterday's Stars

Pitching — Alex Kellner, Athletics, stopped the Yankees on five hits for a 4-3 victory that knocked New York out of first place.

Batting — Ted Kluszewski, Redlegs, boosted his major league home run lead to 43 with a pair among his three hits in second game of doubleheader swept by Giants 5-0 and 9-7.

Kansas City Loses Infield Performer

KANSAS CITY (AP) —The Kansas City Athletics, desperately shorthanded in the infield, lost shortstop Joe DeMaestri through an injury in the fourth inning of Tuesday night's game with the New York Yankees.

Minutes later the A's announced they were calling up Gerald Schypinski, 23-year-old shortstop from the Savannah Club of the South Atlantic League.

A pitch by Tom Morgan struck DeMaestri on the right arm. He was taken to a hospital where first X-rays showed a bad bruise but no break.

Klu Homers Twice, Reds Still Lose 2

NEW YORK (AP) — The longest home run famine of the season is over for Ted Kluszewski, the Cincinnati Redlegs' powerful first baseman.

Big Klu, who had gone 16 games without homering, swatted two with the bases empty last night in the second game of a twi-night doubleheader with the New York Giants. That upped his home run total to 43, his runs batted in mark to 101 and his runs scored to an even 100. It's the third straight year and the fourth in his major league career that he's topped the century mark in the RBI department.

But Kluszewski's feat was little comfort to the Cincinnatians as they dropped two games last night. The New Yorkers blanked the Reds 5-0 in the first game, marked by the worst display of Redleg fielding of the year. The Giants outslugged the Reds 9-7 in the nightcap.

The Reds committed five fielding boners in the opener. Roy McMillan booted the ball twice and Kluszewski once in the first inning as the Giants scored two runs without a hit. Losing pitcher Johnny Klippstein, who gave up only four hits in six frames, walked in one first-inning run when the bases were loaded.

Sam Mele and Rocky Bridges erred later.

The only earned run in the game was in the third inning when Hank Thompson singled, advanced to second on a walk and scored on Ray Katt's single to center.

Johnny Antonelli held the Reds to five hits for his 11th victory against 16 losses.

In the second game, both Klu and Willie Mays hit two homers. It was Nos. 39 and 40 for Willie.

White Sox Move in Front With 7-5 Win Over Bosox

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Staff Writer

No matter who wins the pennant, the American League idol will have clay feet and a glass chin.

The four contenders, one of whom has to serve as champ, have been tagged with a sucker punch in 10 of their last 18 games with the second division, and a pretty scrawny second division at that.

Seventh-place Washington and last-place Baltimore banged the Chicago White Sox against the ropes last week, winning four of seven. Then Washington barred Cleveland's way to the top Sunday with a double-header sweep.

And last night, Kansas City, 24 games deep in sixth place, dropped New York 4-3, spilling the Yankees from first place into a second-place tie with Cleveland. With that assist, the White Sox moved a half game ahead with a 7-5 decision over Boston.

The White Sox didn't ride into the lead on a white charger. They backed in with five unearned runs.

Eight Walks Help

Cleveland, meanwhile, stopped the nonsense and moved up with a 7-4 triumph over Baltimore—but had the help of eight walks that became four runs.

Chicago, playing one less game than either New York or Cleveland for a five-percentage-point edge, tied it at 4-4 in the fourth with the first two gift runs. Then they put it away with the other three unearned runs while reliefer Millard Howell checked Boston on three hits over the last five frames.

Ted Williams, whose double opened a 4-3 Boston lead, booted a liner by Nelson Fox for a two-base error to set up the final Chicago runs in the sixth. George Kell followed with a two-run triple and Minnie Minoso knocked in the gravy marker with a single.

New York bunched three of its five hits off Alex Kellner to tie the A's at 3-all in the fifth. Then Hec Lopez gave Alex his 10th victory with a home run off loser Bob Grim in the bottom half of the frame.

Rookie Rip Coleman started for the Yanks but gave way in the third when Vic Power homered, Gus Zernial doubled and Harry Simpson singled for a 3-1 Kansas City lead.

Bob Lemon won his 15th for the Indians, but gave up 12 hits and

Harding, St. Mary Teams Set Scrimmages Tonight

Harding and St Mary football fans will be offered pre-season looks at their high school grid squads in scrimmage sessions against outside opposition tonight

Coach Gordon Larson's Harding squad takes on Mansfield Madison in its first scrimmage session of the year at the Stadium beginning at 7 30 p m while St. Mary is on the road. Coach Ray Robbins and his Irish gridders travel to Upper Sandusky.

HARDING WOUND up drills for tonight's game yesterday afternoon and Larson's gridders today took the day off The Prexies are expected to be at nearly full strength for tonight's scrimmage with Dick Penry and Lester Prude the only two gridders nursing ailments

St. Mary will go into tonight's scrimmage at Upper Sandusky suffering from only the usual bumps and bruises, Robbins reported A morning practice session today prepared the Irish for tonight's scrimmage action, their second one of the year.

The St Mary gridders scrimmaged at Galion Monday night where they were outscored by the Tigers. Robbins reported Galion scored at least three touchdowns while St. Mary hit paydirt twice

ROBBINS HAS BEEN attempting to iron out the weaknesses noticed at Galion in the scrimmages yesterday and today. "We were pathetically weak on pass defense," Robbins explained, "And our offensive is not going at all yet" He added, however, that it was due to inexperienced backs Fullback Bob McMahan and Don Shearer, who alternated at a halfback slot, are the lone backfield regulars who returned from last year's undefeated squad

Robbins reports the defensive line looked good He said yesterday that St Mary needed work on pass defense and pass protection and "a lot of brushing up on offense"

A Booster Club meeting is scheduled tonight at 8 15 p m following the Harding - Mansfield Madison scrimmage game. Larson and the Harding gridders are to be introduced to the club members.

Series Plan Set

NEW YORK (AP)—Representatives of all teams still in contention in the major league pennant races will meet Sept 6 with Ford Frick, baseball commissioner, to make plans for the World Series.

The series is scheduled to start in the American League city on Sept 28. The first two games will be played there, the next three at the National League park, and the final two, if necessary, at the American League field.

The last major leaguer to hit four doubles in one game was Al Zarilla of the Boston Red Sox on June 8, 1950

DOWN GOES 'THE MAN.' Umpire Jocko Conlan rushes to side of Stan Musial as the St Louis batter goes down after stopping a close pitch with his right hand in the fourth inning of Ebbets Field game in Brooklyn. The pitch was hurled by Dodgers southpaw Johnny Podres. Catcher is Roy Campanella. Musial continued in game, but the pain in his hand became so acute that he left for a hospital and X-rays which disclosed no fracture

Minoso Hitting Key to Success For White Sox

CHICAGO (AP)—Minnie Minoso's bat is the hottest it's ever been and one of the big reasons the Chicago White Sox are on top in the torrid American League race

Minnie slapped out two hits Tuesday night to run his consecutive game hitting streak to 23 as the White Sox blasted the Boston Red Sox, 7-5, to take over first place by one-half game while the New York Yankees were losing to Kansas City, 4-3

"This is hottest I've ever been," said Minnie, "and I'm glad"

Minoso has been belting the ball at a 430 clip in his last 23 games and has raised his average from 257 to a current 297.

"They say I no good after getting hit in eye at New York last May but I show them I only get hit, nobody keel me," said Minnie

"Eet was bad early in season Minnie no hit, crowds boo and Minnie worry I even go to eye doctor to see if something wrong But he say get out of here, nothing wrong with you

"Finally I say to Minnie, you no kid, you professional So instead of worry I got up there to hit and I do pretty good

"Team take movies of me and I see I go for bad balls and I get hitch So I stop all those things and I start to heet

"I say to myself, pull ball and everything be okay. Pay no attention to boos. So I heet and now heeting better than anytime in my life No more boos and no more talk about Minnie get heet in head I never scare"

White Sox manager Marty Marion pointed to his mail box and said "I had a lot of letters early in the season to bench Minoso But we decided to string along with him I haven't had a letter to take him out in a long time"

During his current streak, Minoso has raised his average some 40 percentage points, knocked out nine doubles, four triples and three homers and has 17 runs batted in

Millers Cinch Flag In Association Play

By The Associated Press

Minneapolis has sewed up the American Association flag for 1955, to nobody's great surprise.

The Millers cinched the regular season pennant by trimming Omaha, 5-3, last night, leaving a last-ditch battle for the remaining three playoff berths

Elsewhere about the league Louisville nudged Toledo, 3-2, Denver thumped St Paul 10-6, and the Saints came back to take the second half of a doubleheader, 6-4, and Indianapolis squeaked past Charleston, 3-2 This left Louisville and Denver deadlocked for second place, 8½ games behind Minneapolis and Toledo and Omaha tied for third, 10½ games out of first

Colts Tie Redskins

BALTIMORE (AP) — Behind by three touchdowns as the last quarter began, the Baltimore Colts stormed back to earn a 28-28 tie with the Washington Redskins in a National Football League exhibition game Tuesday night before 23,280

Rocky Nelson Named MVP in IL Campaigns

By The Associated Press

Glenn Nelson, Montreal's slugging first baseman, is taking a stranglehold on the International League most valuable player award, capturing the trophy two out of the three times he has been eligible for it

Nelson yesterday became the first man in the 24-year history of the award to receive it twice He did it before in 1953, his first season in the league

The 30-year-old native of Portsmouth, Ohio garnered 21 of the 28 first place votes of the league's Baseball Writers' Assn His total of 215 points gave him a clear cut margin over Toronto's Archie Wilson, who polled 177 points Spook Jacobs of Columbus had 155 points

Nelson currently is making a runaway of the league batting race, hitting a lusty 369, some 40 points above his nearest competitor His 34 home runs, 123 runs batted in and 109 runs scored also are tops.

Last season Nelson lost out on the MVP but still managed to lead the circuit with 31 home runs.

Cubans Given Last Chance at Pennant

By The Associated Press

The Havana Sugar Kings must win three in a row from Toronto, starting tonight, or relinquish all hope of gaining the International League flag.

The Cubans dropped the second game of their five game series with the Leafs last night, 5-3, to fall 4 games behind the leaders Unless they sweep the remaining contests, the Leafs will leave Cuba with at least a three game edge and only five games left on the schedule

The second place Montreal Royals were rained out against Columbus and fell a game behind Rochester, with a 6-1 victory against Richmond, lengthened its hold on fourth place to three and a half games over Syracuse which lost to Buffalo in extra-innings, 5-4

Robinson Gives Brooks' Attack Needed Spark

BROOKLYN (AP)—At 36, Jackie Robinson doesn't exactly qualify for an old age pension.

But you'd hardly expect him to be acting like a speed demon on the base paths — especially with his trick knee and other assorted aches and pains.

In the past five games, though, the veteran Brooklyn third baseman has stolen four bases and has heckled opposing pitchers into tossing two wild pickoff pegs Most important, the Brooks have won six of the last eight games in which he has started.

"I felt we couldn't go on the way we were," said Jackie today before heading for Ebbets Field for the scheduled game against the Milwaukee Braves "We were losing and let down So I was determined to keep running, safe or not. But I must admit I didn't expect to be safe so often"

The Braves finally stopped him Tuesday night, but the Brooks won the ball game 8-6 so it didn't make any difference

A couple of weeks ago Manager Walt Alston announced he was going to give Robinson a through test before deciding whether to use him in the World Series — assuming, of course, the Dodgers won the Pennant. Until then, Robinson had been in and out of the lineup all season.

Improvements Seen

Mid-American Conference Gridders To Begin Practices

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Mid-American Conference, probably the toughest football conference in the country outside the big leagues, opens its 1955 training grind tomorrow.

Dr. Dave Reese of Dayton, commissioner of the rugged loop, predicted today the circuit was in for one of its tightest championship races.

"Miami has dominated the league for some time, but the others are creeping up," the former top-flight referee said.

"Miami will be good again, but Kent State will be a threat all the way and the title might hinge on the Oct. 29 game between the two in Kent. But you can't discount the others, either, for in this league any team can upset any of the others on any given day. Bowling Green didn't win a conference game last season, but Doyt Perry could make the Falcons dangerous this year."

The conference is a seven-team loop this season, Western Reserve having dropped out to enter the Presidents' Athletic Conference along with Case, Baldwin Wallace and Wayne. Western Reserve won two of five league starts last season, one victory coming in the final five seconds over Marshall. The Thundering Herd, after a 2-5-0 conference record last season, could prove the sensation of the circuit this time.

The league teams will play 20 games with each other this fall, and the slate is dotted with some stern tests with non-conference foes featured by Ohio University's Oct. 29 date with Indiana, and Miami's Sept. 24 contest with Northwestern.

Here's how they stack up as the practice grind starts:

Miami: Had 4-0-0 conference record and 8-1-0 overall record last fall; 55 men reporting, including 17 lettermen; only four of last year's starters returning, with starting end Tom Mooney shifted to guard; Paul Boykin, 192-pound halfback who won 440-yard high school run three straight years for Xenia Woodrow Wilson, definitely out as multiple fracture of leg suffered in spring game mended too slowly.

Dick Mattern, center; Roger Siesel, tackle, and Russ Giganti, guard, are other starters returning, but coach Ara Parseghian has lettermen back for all vacancies. Parseghian's early worries center around search for a "first down guy" and quarterback replacement for Dick Hunter and Danny Studrawa, both of whom graduated. Tom George Dimitroff, Barberton junior, being groomed as No. 1 signal caller.

Kent State: Had 4-1-0 in conference, 8-1-0 overall; opens practice with squad of 48, including 19 lettermen and 23 highly-regarded sophomores; among big losses is end Tony Zalar, sophomore from Cleveland, who will skip school to enter service. Senior halfback Bob Spence passing up football to concentrate on studies, but Coach Trevor Rees will be shooting for Kent's first unbeaten season and the Mid-American championship. Rees, with a 50-25 record, has never had a losing campaign in nine years at Kent.

Ohio U.: Had 5-2-0 conference record, and 6-3-0 overall; Coach Carroll Widdoes, starting seventh season at Bobcat helm, has 18 lettermen among 50-odd players reporting. He's involved in "Operation Big Switch," due to the loss of a flock of tackles necessitating the shift of guards, centers and ends to that position. Three tackles graduated, four—including two lettermen—were lost through ineligibility, and one freshman tackle also foundered scholastically. Only tackle returnee is Bob Sapasho, junior from Lowellville Lettermen will handle all starting assignments except tackle.

Toledo: Had 3-2-0 conference record, 6-2-1 overall; the Rockets lost only eight men by graduation, but two of these were key men—All-Ohio Mel Triplett, a fullback, and George Machoukas, a senior. Last season's team was very young with five of its outstanding players sophomores. This season there will be only five seniors on the team. Juniors figure to make up the bulk of the club, filled in by sophomores up from a fairly strong freshman club. This season's schedule—which includes the University of Detroit, Miami and Kent—figures to be much tougher than last year's.

Western Michigan: Had 3-4-0 conference record, 4-5-0 overall; Coach Jack Petosky to greet squad of about 50, including 15 or more lettermen; heading the list of returning lettermen for the school's 50th football campaign are co-captains Jerry Ganzell, quarterback and outstanding passer, and Jim Devine, senior guard. Petosky says greater maturity of squad will be big asset, that team should be quicker and more alert, and overall out-look in personnel is the best he's had since taking over.

Marshall: Had 2-5-0 conference record, and 4-5-0 overall; 22 lettermen will be among 42 squadmen reporting Thursday. Three lettermen graduated, five ineligible. Athletic Director Robert Morris said "Marshall should be a little better than last year, but the whole league is improved. We could beat any team on our schedule with our full potential." Marshall lost through graduation, but has some promising sophomores to fill gaps in both the line and backfield. Expected to help is Glenn Hellyer, junior halfback with two years of varsity background, who has returned from the armed service. Also missing are ends Bill Dan Ray and Gene Blake, both ineligible.

Bowling Green: Had 0-6-0 conference record, and 2-7-0 overall; Coach Doyt Berry, making debut as head college coach, has 48 squadmen including 12 lettermen and five reserves from the 1954 team returning; seven lettermen are linemen, five are experienced backfilders. Perry wants a long look at his talent, and plans two-a-day sessions for at least 10 of the 14 days prior to tapering off for the Sept. 17 opener with Defiance. Perry's five-man staff has three newcomers to Falcon coaching circles.

NOW THE 'SCALPER'? - - By Alan Maver

SAL MAGLIE, NOW WITH CLEVELAND, KNOWN AS "THE BARBER" WITH THE GIANTS, WILL PROBABLY BE CALLED "THE SCALPER" WITH THE TRIBE-AND NOT FOR TICKET GOUGING
UNFAIR
PICKING UP SUPPOSEDLY FADED STARS FROM THE NATIONAL LEAGUE HELPED THE YANKS WIN 5 STRAIGHT FLAGS. THE CUSTOM WAS THEN ABHORRED BY CLEVELAND'S BIG BOSS, HANK GREENBERG
THEY CAN'T HIT 'EM OFF THE EARS
THE OBVIOUS CONCLUSION IS THAT THE INDIANS FIGURE THEY'LL BE MEETING B'KLYN IN THE WORLD SERIES AND WHO KNOWS MORE ABOUT PITCHING TO THEM THAN SAL WHO'S BEATEN THEM 23 TIMES.

needed help from Don Mossi to get the final out.

Jim Wilson lost it, giving away the eight passes before leaving in eighth. Al Smith homered after one of the walks. Then the Tribe needed a walk, single and error for a 3-all tie in the fifth before two walks and three singles got the Indians home safe in the sixth.

Hoeft Gets Shutout

Billy Hoeft granted just four singles for his 14th victory as Detroit beat Washington 4-0 in the other AL game. Bill Tuttle and Frank House hit two-run homers off loser Pete Ramos.

In the National, Brooklyn went 13 games in front by beating Milwaukee 8-6 as Don Newcombe finally won his 19th; New York ended a five-game slump with a 5-0, 9-7 sweep of Cincinnati; Chicago's Cubs clipped Philadelphia 3-1; and Pittsburgh beat St Louis 3-1 after the Cards had wrapped up a 1-0 verdict in the completion of a suspended game.

Newcombe, 0-3 since July 31, gave up two-run homers by Bobby Thomson and Johnny Logan, but led 8-4 when he gave way to a back ache after six innings. Roy Campanella homered twice.

Reliefer Hal Jeffcoat saved Sam Jones' 12th victory after Sad Sam had walked the bases loaded with one out in the eighth at Philadelphia. Jim Bolger's triple and singles by Harry Chitl and Dee Fondy gave it to the Cubs in the sixth after Sol Rogovin had retired 15 in order, making a total of 32 batters he had set down in succession in two games.

Harvey Haddix, who won the suspended game, lost the regularly scheduled contest as the Pirates scored three runs in the sixth Ramon Mejias' two-run triple was the big blow against the Cardinals' lefty.

New Coveralls Designed To Protect Child Artists

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Now you don't need to worry if most of the painting Susie does in art class is done on Susie.

A new line of plastic coveralls, for either boys or girls, offers complete protection for the child's clothing. The coveralls are waterproof, flameproof and completely washable. Since they snap down the back, there are no tie strings to tear. The coveralls, sized 6 to 10, are decorated with scenes from Mother Goose, children at play, and similar small fry designs.

Pitcher John Taylor of the St Louis Cardinals in 1904 hurled 352 consecutive innings without relief.

Reds

The Giants sent rookie Don Gross down to defeat in the second inning with four runs on two singles, two doubles and an error by Matt Batts.

Triples by Sid Gordon of the Giants and Redleg catcher Batts were other features of the 21-hit slugfest. New York accounted for 11 of the hits off four Cincinnati pitchers. Winner Don Liddle needed help from Windy McCall in the ninth to preserve his eighth victory against 13 defeats. The Red rallied in the ninth for one run on a walk and two singles. McCall got Kluszewski to fly out to left field to end the game.

The double defeat dropped the fifth place Cincinnatians 4½ games behind the fourth place Giants. The Reds are only one game out of sixth.

The all-time winning horse at Monmouth Park is William G. Helis' Helioscope who won the 1955 runnings of the Monmouth Handicap and the Salvator Mile for total purses of $68,600.

Carl's, Marion Merchants in Softball Wins

Carl's Auto Parts upended Smitty's All Stars 5-4 in the opener of a Commercial League twin bill at Garfield Park last night.

Marion's Merchants whipped the Eagles 10-5 in the second game.

Carl's scored twice in the top of the seventh on three hits to edge Smitty's. The pair of runs gave Carl's a 5-3 edge and Smitty's fell short with one run in the bottom of the same inning on two hits.

The losers had taken an early 3-0 bulge in the second on a pair of hits and as many errors but Carl's came back with two in the third on triples by Willie Jones and Russ Frank and a hit batsman. A fifth inning run on a double by J. Frank and an error tied the score at 3-3 and then Poorman, Frank and Grubbs came through with hits to win it in the final frame.

Sonny Taylor held Smitty's to five hits, two of them by Dick Mulvaine, in winning. Bud Thorpe gave up nine safeties to Carl's.

Wilcox held the Eagles scoreless after the second frame as his Merchant teammates erupted for nine markers to win easily.

After the Merchants opened the first with a single tally, the Eagles came back with four in the bottom of the frame and one in the second for a 5-1 bulge. One run in the third and three in the fourth tied it up and then four markers in the fifth put the game under wraps.

Wilcox gave the Eagles eight hits while McKeever of the losers was tagged for 10. Higgins led the attack with a home run, double and three walks. Owens and B. Higgins both collected two hits. For the losers, Williams netted three hits and McKeever and Uline each had two.

Local Archers Set for Action In State Meet

Marion's Black Feather Bowmen are preparing for competition in the Ohio State Field Championship near Columbus this weekend following action in a meet Sunday at Mount Vernon.

The local archers captured five of the nine places in the meet. Al Roach of Cardington topped the field. Next best score was turned in by Gott of the Mid-States Archers while Don Inskeep of East Liberty was third.

Black Feather Bowmen won all three ribbons in the Bowmen class. Bob Stephens of Cardington was first, with Max Andriene of Girard Ave. runner-up.

Local archers believe Roach will be among the top archers at the state field championship to be held Saturday and Sunday on the Linden Archers' range at the Hoover Dam site. The two-day meet will start at 8 a.m. Saturday, with a 56-field meet scheduled that day and a 56-broadhead round Sunday. The champion will be determined by the aggregate score of both shoots. Along with Roach, who earlier this year at Ludington, Mich., won the national championship for Bowmen, several other Black Feather Bowmen will shoot in the state meet.

Got To Be Tough

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — John Heydler, former president of the National League, believes there must be strict discipline in the administration of the game.

Said Heydler: "You must be fair but you've got to be tough."

The 86-year old Heydler, who served as loop president from 1918 to 1934, now lives here in retirement but keeps up with the game via radio, television, newspapers and correspondence.

Rifle and Pistol Matches Enter Closing Round

CAMP PERRY, Ohio. (AP) — A field of 1,850 of the nation's finest military and civilian marksmen start firing today in the final phase of the 1955 National Rifle and Pistol Championships.

Some 1,000 shooters will compete in the seven-day high power rifle contest for titles now held by Chief Warrant Officer Thomas R. Carpenter, a Marine from Encinitas, Calif., the U. S. Service Rifle champion; Marine 1st Lt. Clifford G. Tryon of Vista, Calif., the Marine Air Transport Rifle champ; and Miss Helen Orme-Johnson of El Paso, Tex., the national womens' title holder.

Starting Sunday, Harry Reeves of Detroit will try against a field of 850 to win his seventh pistol championship in 15 years.

Miss Lucille Chambliss of Winter Haven, Fla., the womens' National Pistol Champion, will try to become the first woman to take the national title.

Europe Passes Season Without Polio Epidemic

Only Denmark Carries Out Mass Inoculation; Some Local Areas Hit

LONDON (AP)—Polio appears to have hit its summer peak in Europe without reaching epidemic proportions anywhere The number of cases for the year to date ranges from a low of 10 in Denmark to as high as 1 519 in England and Wales

Only Denmark carried out a large-scale program of inoculation The country had 120 polio cases in the same period of 1954 No polio cases have yet developed among 430 000 schoolchildren vaccinated the Danish Health Board reported The vaccine was produced by the Danish State Serum Institute

Severe Local Outbreaks

Severe localized outbreaks occurred in some areas of Europe The Bavarian Interior Ministry, for example, reported 436 cases more than double the state's seasonal average, and 46 deaths since May 1

Berlin reported 48 cases and 5 deaths Glasgow reported 42 patients this week a polio situation Deputy Health Officer V' Horne described as 'rather more than we can regard as seasonal'

On the other hand, Scandinavia generally had a low number of cases. Swedish and Danish health officials explained big outbreaks in 1952 and 1953 probably immunized large sections of the population

Survey Made

A European survey gave this picture

FRANCE — 651 cases up to mid-August with the peak past and relatively few new ones expected This compared with 448 cases last year and 1 979 in 1950 Authorities said a vaccine being developed by the Pasteur Institute was used on a very limited experimental basis

ITALY — 1 124 cases up to Aug 12, compared with 2 263 in 1953, an epidemic year

BELGIUM — 127 cases up to Aug 6, compared with 81 in the same period last year.

NETHERLANDS — 19 cases so far this year For the whole of 1954 331 cases were recorded

ENGLAND AND WALES — Provisional figures showed 1,519 cases up to Aug 6 and a Health Ministry spokesman said the trend was closely following the pattern of 1952 which was not an epidemic year

SWEDEN — 86 cases up to mid-August compared with 1 010 in 1954 About 2 000 schoolchildren were inoculated with Swedish-developed vaccine last spring

NORWAY — 71 cases, compared with 193 for the same period in 1954 and 305 in 1953.

Italy, Netherlands and England are conducting vaccine studies preparatory to conducting immunization programs. Belgium and Sweden are awaiting further developments and checks on vaccines Norway dropped plans to inoculate children with Salk vaccine this summer

Radio and Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Note on Propaganda

The wafe of sweetness that has engulfed the Russians lately has extended even to radio. I see by the papers, Vladimir M. Matskevich, acting Soviet agriculture Minister, had three minutes of fairly kind words to say about our agricultural system, which is about as many kind words as the average radio program can stand.

JOHN CROSBY

While not yielding an inch to the superiority of the collective as against the capitalist system of farms, Mr. Matskevich admitted that he was impressed by the productivity of our Iowa farms and bewildered by our price support system. (He's not alone there, either.)

The Voice of America broadcast these sentiments to Russia, an almost epic exchange of opinion as far as the air waves are concerned.

I DON'T SUPPOSE it will happen very often, but it's a nice note to come home on this idea that the air can be used for something besides an exchange of insults. Propaganda is a tricky weapon and like a good poison gas, it is at its best when you can't see it or smell it or taste it.

By this definition our own Armed Forces Network, quite unconsciously, has been doing a splendid job of propaganda. Actually, the AFN is supposed to be beamed strictly at American ears, but the nature of broadcasting being what it is, it strikes a good many European ears and many Europeans have got quite fond of it.

Most of the radio shows that we know have been broadcast regularly on AFN and can be heard with varying degrees of distinctness in the funniest places I have heard Bill Stern telling his tall sports stories on the Riviera and heard Groucho Marx in Vienna.

Now a propagandist boasting about the enormous wealth and strength of America is one thing, and Groucho Marx telling a joke about a rich Texan is another, but essentially they are both doing the same thing, and Marx, by indirection, is doing a better job of it.

I WAS IN AUSTRIA the day AFN quit operating — the occupation being on its way to ending — and a lot of people are going to miss it. Not all of them are Americans, either. Many folks along the Danube got quite fond of our comedians and our music and our flat matter-of-fact news broadcasts.

In a lot of ways a Viennese can learn more about America by listening to broadcasts which are not designed for his ears at all than by listening to The Voice of America which is self-consciously tailored to his prejudices and his supposed ignorance.

I think the best propaganda in the world is simply to be yourself. If you have nothing to hide, you have nothing to fear. The BBC does a splendid job of propaganda the world over, not by trying to explain the British but by simply being British.

Their newscasts, a model of restraint, carry great conviction by assuming that you are as interested in things British as they are. And pretty soon you are. Out in the African bush, listening to the BBC every night, I even got a flicker of interest in the cricket scores. (The score of a cricket match is the only thing about that game I can understand.)

IF I WERE a propagandist, I would flavor my stuff with something besides our virtues. I recall looking at an Italian propaganda magazine in about four languages which told about Italian progress in textiles (great), automobile production (great) and reconstruction (great).

That night I watched an Italian fireman select with infinite care a nozzle to put on a fire hose. The building was burning down with great rapidity but nothing could hurry this man from selecting with infinite care exactly the right nozzle and from screwing it on with infinite delicacy. Textile production is a more impressive statistic, but the sight of that Italian told a lot more about Italy.

I sometimes wonder if our propagandists wouldn't get a lot farther if they'd exploit our endearing weaknesses rather than parading interminably the statistics of our overwhelming strength.

Galion Man Is Arrested On Probation Violation

BUCYRUS — Paul Grogg, 35, Galion, is expected to be arraigned here next week before Crawford County Common Pleas Judge John C. Carroll on a probation violation charge, Sheriff Elwood Jacobs reported here today.

Grogg was picked up in Bucyrus over the weekend by the sheriff's department for check forgery, a charge to which he pleaded guilty last June at an arraignment before Judge Carroll, who placed him on two years' probation. Sheriff Jacobs said Grogg cashed a forged check last week in Morrow County and attempted to cash another forged check in Bucyrus last Saturday.

3-Car Crash Fatal

XENIA, Ohio (AP)—David Hayship, 25, of Rt. 1, Spring Valley, was killed last night in a three-car accident on U.S. 42, five miles southwest of here, the state highway patrol reported.

Galion City Engineer Presents Sewer System Plans to Council

GALION — A general plan to correct deficiencies which exist in the city's sanitary sewer system, with estimation of cost for immediate construction necessary, was presented to city councilmen Tuesday night by City Engineer Kenneth P. Shaffer. Councilmen met informally at the city building to look over the plans.

Investigation of the sewer system was made by the engineer at the request of Mayor Francis C. Schalip, the engineer stated in a letter with his specifications and blueprints to the city legislators.

Adoption of a portion of the program, which would be for the construction of 13th and 14th district trunk sewers, depends upon passage at the November election of a 2-mill operating levy which would provide approximately $50,000 annually for the next five years.

Study Fund Distribution

Councilmen, in their study last night, found out how they could earmark funds from the levy if it passes. The city's share was estimated at $100,000 for the construction of the 13th and 14th district trunk sewers and the remainder of the money from the operating levy would be used for street surfacing and operating funds such as salary and wage increases which have been granted city employes.

The 13th district trunk would run from the city treatment plant to John and West Sts. and also include an 18-inch trunk to the township road. This is in the southwest section of the city.

The 14th district trunk sewer would have sections in the northwest part of the city. It would be located as follows: from the city treatment plant to a point east of N. State Rd. and south of Park Lane, from a point east of the State Rd. and south of Park Lane to a point north of Summit St. and east of N. State Rd.; from the point north of Summit and east of North State Rd. to a point north of the corporation line and east of N. State Rd.; from a point north of Summit St. and east of North State Rd. to Center St. and alley north of Summit St.; and from point north of the corporation line and east of N. State Rd. to the existing lift station on N. State Rd.

Lists Recommendations

In his letter, Shaffer said to correct the deficiencies he found in the sewer system, he was recommending new sewer districts be constructed and the trunk lines be reinforced to eliminate flooded basements adjacent to these said trunk lines. He suggested that additional studies and discussions should be conducted to consider a reinforcement of the main trunk through the city to accommodate an expansion of the corporate limits easterly. He said that this extension in the future could possibly be made to the Richland County line and remain on the watershed of Whetstone Creek.

The over-all plan included estimates and locations for construction of a 15th district trunk sewer in the east side, a 16th district trunk on Crew Ave. and the south end and a 17th district trunk in the northeast section.

Only the 13th and 14th district trunks are being considered by city officials, the mayor said, and these depend upon passage of the operating levy.

Councilmen also heard Service Director Floyd Steffee in his estimates for paving Wilson Ave. He indicated that all plans are ready for council's action.

Regular meeting of council will be held next Tuesday night.

E. Lansing Ray, Publisher, Dies Of Heart Attack

RYE BEACH, N. H. (AP)—E. Lansing Ray, who rose from a $10-a-week job to editor and publisher of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, died of a heart attack at his summer home here Tuesday as he was observing his 71st birthday.

His unexpected death ended 52 years on the Globe-Democrat. The paper had been under his direction for 36 of those years.

Ray was opening gifts at a family birthday party. Suddenly he felt weak, excused himself and went to his bedroom. A physician was called but life quickly ebbed. Death was attributed to a coronary thrombosis.

Sells Out Interests

Only five months ago Ray, whose family had controlled the newspaper for three generations, sold his stock interest in the Globe-Democrat to Samuel I. Newhouse of New York.

Ray remained as editor, publisher and chairman of the board for Newhouse, who owns 10 other newspapers.

At the age of 34, Ray assumed direction of the newspaper by becoming trustee of the estate of a cousin, Miss Ellen J. McKee. At that time he was named president, editor and general manager. Seven years later he became principal owner.

For 29 consecutive years he served as a member of the Board of Directors of The Associated Press, beginning in 1923. He also was elected a vice president of The Associated Press.

Rises Rapidly

Ray passed up a chance for a college education to take a $10-a-week job in the business office of the Globe-Democrat at 18. He rose rapidly, becoming cashier a year later and advertising manager by the time he was 20 years old.

Although his interests were wide, Ray always maintained that "I have never been anything but a newspaperman."

"My whole business interest is in newspaper work and I try conscientiously to maintain this interest in integrity," he once said.

At that time he said that he made it a strict rule to make no personal investments which might influence his judgment as an editor and publisher.

Both Ray's only son E. Lansing Jr. and his wife died in 1946. The son had followed his father's newspaper footsteps, becoming secretary and assistant publisher of the Globe-Democrat in 1932.

Funeral services are to be held in St. Louis but final arrangements had not been completed.

Woman Fined $25

Vernetta Taylor of 219½ Senate St. was fined $25 and costs in Marion Municipal Court Tuesday on a charge of disorderly conduct. She was arrested last weekend by city police in a Kenton Ave. restaurant.

Urbana Youth Winner in Ohio Essay Contest

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Lynn Yocum, 17-year-old farm boy from Rt. 1, Urbana in Champaign County, Tuesday was named winner in the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation's state soil conservation essay contest.

Yocom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Truman Yocom, collected a check for $200 at ceremonies at the Ohio State Fair for his prize-winning essay, "I Am Erosion."

Second-place award of $100 in the contest went to Miss Annabelle Lanning of Murray City, Hocking County. Third place award of $50 went to David L. Adelsperger of Rt. 2 Tiffin.

All the regional essay winners including the top three received bronzed engraved plaques. Other regional winners were Miss Carol J. Schriver of Rt. 2, Grafton, Logan County, and Miss Eunice D. Workman of Laings, Monroe County.

61 Drivers, 28 Substitutes in County Okayed

Board Members Hear Superintendent Tell Of New Legislation

The Marion County Board of Education certified 61 regular and 28 substitute bus drivers for the coming school year. The action was taken Tuesday night at the monthly meeting of the board.

County superintendent D. T. Mills was given authority by the board to issue temporary certificates to other drivers whose services will be needed between now and the next board meeting on Sept. 29.

Schools and the number of regular drivers certified for each were: Caledonia, four; Claridon, six; Grand Prairie, seven; Green Camp, three; LaRue, five; Marion Township, one; Meeker, three; Morral three; New Bloomington, three; Pleasant, 11; Prospect, four; Tully, four, and Waldo, three.

The board turned down a request for a transfer of property from the Caledonia School District to the Tully District. The request had been made at the last board meeting by Mrs. Blanche Highly of Caledonia, owner of a farm on the border of the two districts.

In a letter to the board, she pointed out she had rented the farm to a couple with four children who had started their schooling at Tully and desired to continue there.

In discussion of the matter, board members pointed out that because there was no assurance that the tenant would remain on the place for any great period of time, the transfer was not warranted. They also pointed to their action of several months ago in which they had denied the requests of two other residents of the area for transfer from Tully to Caledonia.

Inspection of school buses in the county will be held in the middle of September by state patrolmen from the Marion post, Mills told the board. The exact dates have not been set.

Mills told the members of the board that in meetings he had attended during the summer to discuss the new legislation enacted by the Ohio General Assembly at its last term, the feeling throughout the state was that the new required subjects would be instituted in the schools gradually.

Included in the new subjects which will become a regular part of the school curriculum are courses on the effects of alcohol and the harmful effects of narcotics and their illegal use. Mills said a meeting of all superintendents of the schools in the county had been set for the afternoon of Sept. 19 in his office. He said a survey would be made of conditions in the county schools to determine the exact needs of the schools to meet the new requirements.

The board approved the trip of assistant superintendent Ivan Barnhart to Toledo next month to arrange a meeting of the Tri-State personnel group.

ANOTHER REVERE RIDE

PORTSMOUTH, N. H. (UP) — Paul Revere made a ride or two beside the Lexington trip. For instance, he rode to this city Dec. 13, 1774 to warn the patriots that the British were planning to remove powder from Fort William and Mary. The next day, the patriots seized the fort and its ammunition. It was the first aggressive act of the Revolutionary War.

You buy a refrigerator only two or three times in your lifetime.

Yet you don't hesitate to buy one without getting so much as a look at the intricate "works" that makes it run.

How do you dare make such an important purchase without having an expert check it over for you? What makes you so sure you're getting your money's worth when you say, "I'll take that one"?

The answer's obvious. You look for the brand name on the refrigerator—your "guarantee." You've learned to follow this first rule of safe and sound buying:

A good brand is your best guarantee

No matter what kind of product you want to buy, you know a good brand won't let you down. You know the maker stands back of it—guarantees it. And so, when you buy a good brand you know you're right.

Read this newspaper to find out which are the good brands (and the stores that sell them.) The more good brands you know, the surer you are about all your shopping.

Medical Officials Term Aspirin a 'Child Hazard'

CHICAGO (UP) — The American Medical Association says all aspirin packages should bear the clear warning, "keep out of the reach of children."

The recommendation also applies to all other salicylate compounds, according to a report of the association's Committee on Toxicology, published in the AMA Journal.

Oil of wintergreen and aspirin are forms of salicylates most often involved in childhood poisonings the committee report said. Of 113 deaths in the United States known to have been caused by salicylate compounds in 1952, the report said, 86 occurred among children under five years of age. Forty-one of these were caused by aspirin, the report added.

A record 95,844,449 tons of iron ore was shipped down the Great Lakes in 1953.

BAKER, Ore. (UP) — An elderly prospector has gone into a gold mining partnership with this eastern Oregon city. City council members approved an unidentified prospector's plea to be allowed to work the 100-year-old Nelson Placer Mine six miles west of here, which is on land owned by the city. The miner promised the city 15 per cent of the poke he hopes to acquire through hand mining methods.

Total Mounts $30 Billion Yearly

Money Tightened To Halt Rising Debt

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Another round of money tightening is under way. The goal: To slow down the increase in the total of debt of all kinds which proceeded at a rapid rate in the first eight months of this year.

The debt total has been growing in 1955 at an annual rate of almost 30 billion dollars. The federal debt hasn't swelled much this year. But state and local government debt, corporate debt, mortgage and consumer debt have been making notable gains.

The money managers have been letting the supply of money tighten and interest rates rise to discourage the continuance of the rapid rate of debt growth.

LATEST MOVES are:

Three federal reserve banks—Cleveland, Atlanta and St. Louis—now charge member banks 2¼ per cent on money they lend the commercial banks for use in making loans to business or consumers. The other nine reserve banks still charge 2 per cent, but their directors will be meeting this week and next.

The U. S. Treasury is paying more than 2 per cent on its short-term borrowing—for the first time since August 1953, the previous period of tight money that preceded the recession.

Banks financing Commodity Credit Corp. price support loans are to receive 2¼ per cent per year, which is one half of 1 per cent more than they got last year. The rate charged farmers remains at 3½ per cent.

THREE OF THE leading national finance companies are increasing by one fourth of 1 per cent the rate they will pay on short-term commercial notes in the open market.

Some banks are raising the rate of bankers' acceptance—bills covering exports, imports and domestic shipments, by which the bank backs the credit of the purchaser of the goods.

All of these pressures for higher rates are building up behind the interest that banks charge businessmen when they borrow. Already these rates are rising in response to the bigger than seasonal demand for loans in a money market where the supply of money is gradually tightening.

And the really big season of demand for business loans is just ahead. Loans are sought to move and process the crops, and to stock the stores for the big fall and Christmas trade.

News of Granges

BOWLING GREEN

A shower honoring Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Weichart of Lima followed the regular meeting of Bowling Green Grange Friday evening.

During the business meeting, a report of the fair committee was given and the Pomona meeting was announced for Sept. 10 at Tymochtee.

The program, in charge of Mrs. Loa May Amstutz, continued the theme of the previous meeting, "Famous Birthdays in August." Papers given were "Herbert Hoover" by Willis Bowles; "Davy Crockett," Neil Little; and "Oliver Wendell Holmes," Mrs. Lodena Murphy. These were followed by a poem, "The Chambered Nautilis," by Miss Della Owen. A vocal solo, "Playmates," by Judy Amstutz was followed by contets in which the group led by John Thomas Jones were winners. A musical romance contest was held in tribute to the honored guests.

WILL DIRECT CHOIR

CAREY — Christ Lutheran Church council has employed Richard L. Wink of Findlay as choir director, effective Sept. 1. Wink has been music supervisor in the Salem Township School and choir director at Trinity Lutheran Church in Findlay. Dr. T. Benton Peery, pastor of the church, has been serving as choir director for a few months.

Charles Lipp of Bristol, Tenn., a former Methodist missionary in India. Rev. Lipp was the person coming from the farthest distance.

Out-of-town guests were Rev. and Mrs. Lipp, Mrs. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Gardner, Marion Lipp of Marseilles, Mrs. Charles Cosgrove and daughters of Bucyrus, Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Bevan and family of Bucyrus, Mrs. Helen Mills and daughter of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Kyre of Columbus, and Mr. and Mrs. John Hopper of Mansfield.

Plane Leaves Its Pilot Behind, Flies 3 Hours

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—A light airplane left its pilot on the ground Tuesday, circled Sydney and its suburbs for almost three hours and finally was shot down by an Australian navy plane.

Anthony Thrower, 30, was practicing takeoffs and landings with the plane, a four-seater Auster, at Bankstown Airfield. He said he swung the propeller to start the engine, the brakes failed and the craft took off.

"I tried to hold it by a strut but I couldn't make it," Thrower said. "Away she went . . ."

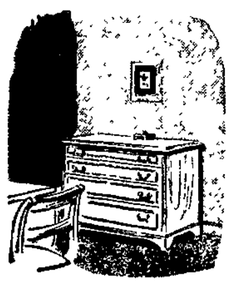
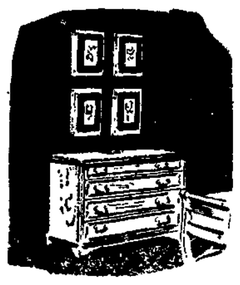
DOES YOUR HOME LACK STYLE?

The first thing to know when applying the term "styles" to home decoration is there is FASHION in decorating. The way pictures are hung or grouped, for instance. One solitary, small picture hanging on a spacious wall above a large piece of furniture is completely out of today's style.





BRING IT UP-TO-DATE . . .

. . . by intensifying the wall interest by hanging a group of small, related pictures in place of just one. This provides an excellent opportunity to introduce color into a room. Also, you can personalize your home by using your hobby collection, if you have one, for wall decor.

If you're seeking new, up-to-the-minute ways to put your home in step with today's smart styling, come in and look over our floor displays and have a chat with our friendly staff. We are always delighted when we can help you.

Federal Report Notes Decline In Farm Prices

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported Tuesday that farm product prices declined 2 per cent between mid-July and mid-August.

The farm price level was about 6.5 per cent below that of a year ago and about 25 per cent below the record high set in February 1951.

The decline in farm prices was accompanied by a drop of nearly 1 per cent in prices paid by farmers for goods and services used in production and in family living.

The department said farm prices in mid-August averaged 84 per cent of parity, unchanged from a month earlier, compared with 89 per cent a year ago and a record high of 123 per cent in October 1946.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices they must pay.

NOT FORGOTTEN. Propped up in bed in his home at Pall Mall, Tenn., Sergeant Alvin York, famed hero of World War I, smiles as he awaits visits from the scores of friends and strangers who come from all sections of the nation to chat with him. His guest book contains the names of some 600 persons, but these are just a few of his callers since parties sometimes arrive by the busload. For the ailing "Old Sarge," his life these days is built around these visits.

Gloria Keeps Her $16,000, Feels Next Hurdle Too Tough

NEW YORK (AP)—Little Gloria Lockerman has taken her $16,000 winnings and passed up a chance to spell her way to more wealth on The $64,000 Question television show.

Here's how she figured it would be a hard question. "It would be a jumble of words I never heard of, and then I'd be lost. I thought the sensible thing to do was to stop where I was. I'd rather go away and be Gloria the undefeated champion than Gloria the girl who lost."

"Besides," the 12-year-old Negro schoolgirl from Baltimore told newsmen after the CBS program last night, "it's $16,000 more than I started out with."

She will net about $11,000 after federal income taxes, according to best estimates. She received $500 to use as she wishes, and master of ceremonies Hal March said the rest of the money will be put into a trust fund for her education.

Marine Corps Capt. Richard S. McCutchen, Worthington, Ohio, reached the $16,000 mark Tuesday night in his quiz category of cooking and foods. He named the flours and geographical origins of five kinds of bread.

Two Children Rescued From Discarded Icebox

FORT WORTH, Tex., (AP)— Two small Negroes were rescued Tuesday from an abandoned ice box where they faced possible suffocation.

Juvenile detectives checking vandalism heard a pounding inside the box at Arthur King's garage. Inside they found King's stepson, James Yates, 10, and his half-brother, James King, 1.

King said his stepdaughter, Oma Thompson, 8, apparently had put the boys in the box and forgotten about them.

Nursing Home Day

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Five hundred nursing homes in Ohio will have open house Sept. 11, Ohio's first annual Nursing Home Day as proclaimed by Gov. Frank J. Lausche.

Crawford Resident Fined on Illegal Claim for Benefits

BUCYRUS — Oliver F. Wilson, 45, of near Bucyrus, pleaded guilty to a charge of obtaining unemployment compensation illegally and was fined $100 and costs at his arraignment here Tuesday before Mayor Frank P. Sitler.

Wilson was charged by George N. Blair, a special investigator with the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, with fraudently obtaining $339 in jobless benefits. Blair said Wilson will be required to refund the $339.

According to Blair, Wilson failed to report earnings on 10 different occasions, including periods when he worked for the Mount Vernon Bridge Co. at Mount Vernon and the Osgood Co. at Marion. The jobless pay was illegally drawn by Wilson in November, 1954, and March and April of this year, according to Blair.

Earlier this year a Bucyrus woman was fined on the same charge and ordered to refund more than $200.

Sanitarian Quits Post in Crawford For Morrow Duties

BUCYRUS — The resignation of Charles Bragg, 31, as Crawford County sanitarian will be effective here Sept. 15, Dr. T. R. Laughbaum, county health commissioner, announced today.

Bragg, who has held the post one year, is resigning to become sanitarian of Morrow County at Mount Gilead. In his new job, Bragg will handle routine sanitarian work along with dairy inspections. In Crawford County, dairy inspections are not handled by the county sanitarian.

A World War II veteran, Bragg is married and the father of three children. He has been living in Sulphur Springs, east of here, and plans to move to Mount Gilead next month.

Bragg replaces Jay Cross at Mount Gilead. Cross is returning to college to complete on his master's degree in public health.

Candidates for a successor to Bragg probably will be interviewed in the near future by the county health board. The board's next meeting will be Sept. 21.

Sinatra Silent On Studio Suit

Million Asked After Singer Refuses To Act

HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—Frank Sinatra is back in California, with nothing to say about the million-dollar suit filed against him in New York by 20th Century-Fox Studios.

He flew in Tuesday night and parried all inquiries with a curt "See my lawyers"

He did, however, say Gordon Macrae "is a good man and should do fine" in "Carousel," the film Sinatra walked out on last week at Boothbay, Maine.

Sinatra claimed he had been required to work on two films at once. Fox explained the picture is being shot in two processes but denied this meant two films.

The overall length of the 1956 models has been increased over seven inches to over 18½ feet and the cars are two inches wider but have been lowered two and a half inches to slightly over 60 inches.

The new models are powered by a 285 horsepower V-8 engine. It has a 368 cubic inch displacement and a 9 to 1 compression ratio. The engine delivers 401 foot-pound of torque.

New styling is another feature of the new models. Only a slender strip of chrome, low on the body of the car, provides ornamentation. High fenderlines and a low sloping hood are noticed. A sweep - around windshield and large, curved rear window gives full visibility to the front and rear.

A group of safety devices are other firsts on the Lincoln this year. Among them are the safety-flex steering wheel with three and a half inches of cushion to absorb shock; safety seat belts for both driver and passengers; new safety double-grip door locks which withstand three times normal impact in collisions; and a vinyl covering for instrument panels to reduce reflection and vinyl coating for rear - view mirrors to reduce shattering.

A new ventilation system, heating and defrosting and a new air-condition system are among other features on this year's Lincolns.

New power steering and turbo-drive automatic transmission are standard equipment on all new models. Also available is a new four-way power seat which adjusts up, down, forward and back and power window lifts.

Twenty - nine interior color combinations are available in the Lincoln Premiere, along with 17 solid exterior colors and 35 two-tone combinations. In the Capri series, 10 solid exterior colors and 19 two-tone combinations are available.

Crooner Hopes for Reunion

Haymes Believes Break With Rita Will Not Last

By GRAHAM BERRY

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Crooner Dick Haymes says he is convinced that he and his wife Rita Hayworth will be reunited, although he admits he hasn't even talked to her since she left him Sunday night.

"I have heard from Rita—indirectly," he told newsmen at a news conference Tuesday night. He declined to elaborate. He did say he knew where she was and that the children were with her.

Asked where she was, he declared, "I wouldn't tell. I wouldn't do that to Rita."

He appeared before newsmen in his suite at the Ambassador Hotel resplendent in a yellow terry-cloth robe, after singing in the hotel's Cocoanut Grobe before a sellout crowd.

Continues Custom

As has been his custom during his current singing engagement, he dedicated "Come Rain or Come Shine" to "my wife Rita."

Asked if he had considered passing up the singing engagement because of his distraught condition, he replied he had, "but when I talked to friends they said I would be a fool if I didn't sing."

Listeners agreed he was in fine voice.

"I think everything is going to be absolutely okay," he told newsmen. "I think Rita and I have been as close as any two people in the world. I know she loves me and I love her.

"This whole thing came about when we sort of got a lot of pressures. It has nothing to do with our marriage. It's like a shock setting in. We have both been greatly overwrought."

Pays Tribute to Rita

He paid tribute to his 35-year-old wife's steadfastness during his long and successful fight against deportation to his native Argentina as an alien illegally in this country.

"I don't believe I could have made the fight without Rita's courage."

He declared that "two human beings who have been subjected to this pressure have a right to a vacation for a week or 10 days. Married people sometimes can have a holiday from each other if they love each other."

"I can't wait for her to come home," he said.

"I haven't tried to talk to her. I think she requested privacy to think things over and I wouldn't intrude on that."

Asked if he planned to try and contact his thrice-divorced wife, he replied: "I will wait until she feels well enough to discuss the situation."

As to reports that Rita left him because he was domineering, he said: "I don't think Rita would say that. There are several others who might though.

"I advised her on her career but backed her up if she disagreed with me."

As to who was to blame for the breakup, he said, "It was nobody's fault and both were at fault." He did not elaborate.

Shortly after Rita left Haymes she issued a statement at her attorney's office saying she didn't know whether the separation would lead to a divorce but that she had taken the step "in the best interests of my children, Dick and myself."

Sewers Should Get Priority

On Page One of today's paper is the fifth and concluding article in a series dealing with the sewer situation facing Marion.

The series does not attempt to come up with any pat answers to this complex problem, but it does point out its seriousness and the many factors involved. A clear-cut solution must await a thorough engineering survey.

The city of Marion is facing many demands on its resources as growth and expansion produce constantly-increasing needs. Without exception all the projects now under study are worthy, and as a newspaper we are inclined to look with favor on most proposals that would result in the betterment of our city. Provided, of course, that the plan is feasible and the expenditure of funds not unreasonable in relation to the benefits obtainable.

However, the proposals are growing in number so rapidly that it seems to us the city is faced with the necessity of following two procedures: 1. Deciding the best method, or methods, for increasing the municipal revenue. 2. Setting up a priority system for suggested improvements and then working on them in that order as the money becomes available.

City Council already has embarked upon a study of the financing problem and the answer, although far from easy, should be forthcoming in due course. The financing method will depend in part upon the project, since sewers, for instance, could be paid for in three or four ways.

As to priority, we submit that improved sewerage is the base upon which the future expansion of the city must be built. And consequently we propose that the sewer program be placed at the head of the list of municipal projects.

The problem of "selling" a major sewer repair and expansion program won't be easy. The home owner whose sewers back up and flood his basement every time there is a heavy rain won't need much of a sales talk. Nor will the residents of two sections of the city into whose hostrils are wafted the odors from open ditches.

But the general public must understand clearly how vital improved sewerage is to the city's chances for growth and development, and how closely it is linked to our economic outlook.

Without it Marion's long-term future isn't worth contemplating.

Anyone Have an Idea?

The collapse of Ohio's axle-mile tax and the half-billion-dollar highway program it was going to pay for is in sight.

The Ohio Supreme Court ruling that the tax could not be collected from Michigan truckers because of a reciprocity agreement has been taken at its face value by seven other states that also have reciprocity agreements with Ohio. Among these are key states like Illinois, Indiana, Iowa and Wisconsin.

If they, too, refuse to pay Ohio's axle-mile tax, or stop its collection by abandoning their reciprocity agreements with Ohio, the tax is a dead duck. The trucking industry, which never wanted to pay it in the first place, will have won the fight to get rid of it.

But it will not be a mighty victory if Ohio's highway improvement program is scuttled. Unless someone jumps up with a better idea than the axle-mile tax and the governor gets the Ohio Assembly into a special session to adopt the idea as state policy instantly Ohio's road-improvement program will die on the vine. The only major improvement will be the privately financed Ohio Turnpike, which truckers will help to pay for with the equivalent of an axle-mile tax.

Fortunately, only a fraction of the bonds that could have been issued under the half-billion program have been issued — about 80 million dollars' worth. Until the wherewithal to pay for the rest is in sight, the program will mark time. That may be forever. The people who have scuttled the axle-mile tax have made it plain they have the resources to block this new principle of taxation for road improvement according to weight carried and distance traveled.

Protect U.S. Tennis Players!

Thanks to television, millions of us who never saw tennis played on a lawn now know why there is a market for tennis exhibitions. But at the same time we are unhappy about the foreign competition.

Australian players showed up so well in the Davis Cup finals—most important international match—that it looks as if none of the U.S. players would have a chance to turn professional. All Davis Cup players are, of course, amateurs, in the sense that they receive no cash for playing, although they receive everything else they need.

This is on the borderline of unfair competition for a home industry. In Australia, tennis is the national game—like football and basketball in the United States. Everybody either plays tennis or watches it. Tennis players are heroes.

Therefore, if Australian tennis players are going to dominate the U.S. market, domestic industry should be protected, the same as bicycle manufacturers or anyone else. The Australians should be required to play with smaller racquets and a patch over one eye, especially that young fellow Lewis Hoad.

Truman for President

By David Lawrence

Former Chief Executive Logical Choice for 1956

Former President Harry Truman not only is eligible under the Constitution to run again for the presidency but in many respects he is the logical person for the Democratic party to nominate in 1956.

Lawrence

It is the Truman record which the Democrats are still boasting about as having been so much better than the Eisenhower record, and it is a return to Trumanism which the country may expect if it elects a Democrat to the White House. For, just as in the 1952 campaign Adlai Stevenson didn't dare to repudiate Trumanism, so in 1956 the Democratic nominee will likewise have to campaign in defense of the same doctrines or else risk the loss of the former President's "give 'em hell" technique in the campaign. Thus, it is more logical that Harry Truman make the race himself.

Once before in history a Democratic president—Grover Cleveland—after a lapse of four years was elected again. The Congress specifically exempted Harry Truman from the constitutional ban against any service in the presidency beyond two terms.

Some will argue that Truman's age, 71, is a deterring factor but his contemporary, Sen. Barkley is still in public life at 77.

MENTION OF BARKLEY recalls a point that maybe Truman would like to forget. For it was big unionism which blacklisted the Kentuckian when it came to selecting a presidential nominee in 1952. Truman now says that the Republican administration is a captive of big business, but the country will remember that big unionism dominated the Truman administration.

Nothing that Truman can suggest by way of alleged harm done by the present administration in protecting the free-enterprise system from sabotage can possibly compare with the injury to constitutional practice recorded when Truman violated the Constitution in seizing the steel industry. This was done because, as the late Phil Murray intimated in one of his speeches prior to the seizure, Truman had pledged himself in a private deal not to use the Taft-Hartley Act.

No president of the United States in all history ever seized an entire industry and, when Truman did so, he was promptly rebuked by the Supreme Court of the United States.

CURIOUSLY ENOUGH, none of the "left wingers," with their stooge organizations, came out to defend the rights of business men as free men under the Bill of Rights of the Constitution. There was no such solicitude about legal procedures and "due process" exhibited then as there is now when a person who is merely asked whether he has ever been a Communist pleads the Fifth Amendment.

Whatever the alleged damage of "McCarthyism" abroad, nothing hurt the prestige of the United States more in foreign countries—particularly in Asia—than the summary dismissal of Gen. MacArthur by President Truman without so much as a hearing.

The supreme commander of our Far Eastern Forces, who had admittedly done such a wonderful job in postwar Japan, not only wasn't given a hearing—which it is so often claimed every government employe is entitled to get—but he wasn't even given the courtesy of being notified ahead of the public announcement that he was fired. He got the first news on the radio.

THE DISREGARD of the Constitution, however, in seizing the entire steel industry and in dismissing Gen. MacArthur without a hearing are not the only mistakes which Trumanism will have to answer for in the next campaign irrespective of whether the former president is the next nominee or has a hand in picking the party candidate.

There is still the matter of neglect of duty with respect to Harry Dexter White. Truman has never explained it.

He has applied the Fifth Amendment sort of philosophy by refusing to appear before a House committee which subpoenaed him to explain the circumstances of the White case.

While presidents have never been required to answer a subpoena, ex-presidents have no such legal right to refuse to testify and some of them actually have testified before congressional committees when invited.

Truman, if inclined to be formal about it, might have refused to accept a subpoena but could nevertheless have responded voluntarily to an invitation.

AS IT IS, the country does not know even today why, in the face of testimony by James F. Byrnes that J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI had warned Truman about White, there were sent nevertheless within the next thirteen months two letters of commendation to White signed by Truman.

The Democratic party has never seemed to care to clear up this mystery. But in the 1956 campaign, which the former president evidently believes should be of the "give 'em hell" variety, it is not unlikely that some of the Republicans will ask for the answers.

They will ask for specific assurances that, if the Democratic party comes back to power, it will not again be as soft in handling Communists as it was during the 20 years it occupied the executive branch of the government.

Too Early To Cheer

By Raymond Moley

No commentator has a right to analyze the exact reasons for the actions of the financial community, but it is a fair assumption that rising prices of stocks are due much more to the prospects of continued spending by the federal government than to the asserted efforts of the Treasury to balance the budget.

The remarks of Secretary Humphrey merely indicate that because of the boom there will be larger revenues. Certainly, neither the administration nor Congress in the past session manifested any strong desire to balance the budget by economies.

Once more, Sen. Byrd is right when he points out the obvious fact that a balanced budget should be attained by retrenchment in spending. But with two political parties scrambling for votes, Byrd's advice will, as usual, be rejected.

AFTER HUMPHREY made his prediction of larger revenues, two senators, one Democratic and the other Republican, rushed into print with predictions of tax reductions. There may indeed be tax reductions in a year with a presidential election, whether the budget is balanced or not, and the effect would be still more inflation and more headaches in years to come.

The Tax Foundation, which has no political axes to grind, presents some cold figures which should be pondered by every taxpayer. It points out that a mere recital of the appropriations made by Congress in its session this year not only fails to tell the whole story, but is a frightfully deceptive way to take the financial pulse of the nation.

But even when we consider appropriations, the session of 1955 was $4,257,000,000 more extravagant than the session of 1954. Congress raised its appropriations for fiscal 1956 by that amount over its appropriations for fiscal 1955.

Quite properly, the Treasury and the Budget Bureau, in telling us what our government is costing us, speak not only of appropriations but of "new obligational authority," which includes not only current appropriations but also permanent appropriations that run automatically from year to year and new contract and loan authorizations.

The total obligational authority for 1956 is $60,300,000,000, which is $1,413,000,000 less than was asked by President Eisenhower. But this is by no means the whole story.

"Consideration of all aspects of the budget situation," says the Tax Foundation, "leads to the disturbing conclusion that supplemental appropriations in the next sessions and rising costs of farm support, which are outside the area of appropriations, may more than wipe out any savings thus far effected in terms of expenditures in fiscal 1956.

Congress failed to make provision for the increase in salaries of postal and classified federal employes which were assured by laws enacted during the session. Later supplementary appropriations for salaries and statutory commitments may amount to 500 million dollars more. . .

MOREOVER, MANY of the claimed reductions in appropriations will not be reflected in an equal curtailment of expenditure in 1956. Reductions of 296 million dollars, in Defense appropriations, represents merely a bookkeeping matter involving the use of foreign currencies. About 350 million dollars of reductions in appropriations for the Atomic Energy Commission were nullified (also by bookkeeping transfers). A reduction in the Mutual Security Program of 568 million is made largely meaningless in terms of fiscal 1956 by the availability of a newly-found prior balance of 302 million by a 100 million cut in the President's Asiatic economic development fund not intended to be used during the first year."

In a number of other respects, the outlook represented in the Treasury's statement should be modified. It is therefore too early to cheer.

Only Ten Billion More

By TRUMAN TWILL

The chairman of the American delegation to the International Astronomical Conference, Dr. Jason J. Nassau, director of the observatory at Case Institute of Technology, gave all of us something to think about when he predicted the world will end in ten billion years.

The end will come when the sun burns itself out, which it would do in the next ten billion years at its present rate of consumption, he explains. The prediction might be off a few billion years one way or the other.

But nothing could be sillier than a fatuous wisecrack that none of us will be around to worry about it. Once we have made up our minds that nothing is forever—not even the earth or the little subdivisions of the universe in which the solar system the earth moves in is situated—there are all kinds of things to worry about.

At that point the Big Showdown becomes a certainty—the instant when the Interplanetary Chronicle will publish under the heading of News From Near And Far that the planet commonly called earth by its inhabitants but listed in the Official Space Gazette as 159,602,-496,308,001 has gone phhtt.

It might not happen for ten billion years, although it would start to happen billions of years before that. In fact, it started to happen a few billion years before now. It is later than most of us are willing to admit it is—billions of years later.

The idea of this is that nothing clears the mind like the certainty that nothing is forever—that all things must pass—and that the more things change the more they will be the same. Suddenly, all unimportant things cease to seem important.

It doesn't matter whether Eddie and Debbie get married, or whether Dick and Rita become reconciled.

The human inexcusables who seem to be ganging up on the decent people are easier to bear.

The fellow who keeps going up the ladder by stepping on the fingers of the people behind him and licking the boots of the people ahead of him becomes no more than an amusing spectacle; he isn't really going anywhere.

It even becomes possible to drive in traffic without popping a cork, or to bear up bravely under annoyances caused by rudeness, carelessness, viciousness and inefficiency.

The idea is to make the most of everything while it lasts because it is not going to last forever. And since almost everybody's idea of making the most of anything is to be as decent about it as he knows how to be, the world improves automatically whenever its human inhabitants have any occasion to dwell on a terminal point for the earth's existence.

Many thanks to Dr. Nassau for the prediction that it will all be over in ten billion years. This is the winter I won't fool with storm windows. It won't really matter if the screens have been left in when the sun runs out of heat. This is the excuse I have been looking for as fall approached and I am only sorry I didn't know about it last spring before I put in the screens.

Icardi Case Wartime Mystery

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON

In every way except one Aldo Icardi, a former Army lieutenant, was safe from court trial in the death of his commanding officer during World War II in Italy. Now the one has been used.

The Italian government wanted him returned there to face trial for murder. A U. S. court ruled he could not be forced to go. An Italian court tried him—without his being there—and sentenced him to life imprisonment.

It's a sentence he will never have to serve unless he returns to Italy. Icardi, who all along has said he's innocent, seemed safe from trial.

BUT NOW a federal grand jury has charged him with committing perjury in testimony about the death of his wartime commanding officer, Maj. William Holohan. But, ironically, the government can't prove he lied on these charges unless it implicates him in Holohan's slaying.

The worst punishment he faces is jail for perjury, not murder. If found guilty he faces a stiff stretch. He was indicted on a total of eight counts. Each carries a maximum penalty of five years.

Holohan, the Defense Department thought for a while, had been lost in action. After the war it began investigating. Finally in 1951 the department gave this account of what had happened:

MAJ. HOLOHAN of New York, then 40, Lt. Icardi, then 23, and Sgt. Carl Lo Dolce, then 22, were all members of the Office of Strategic Services.

Icardi, from Pittsburgh, Pa., and Lo Dolce, from Rochester, N. Y., both spoke Italian. The three men were parachuted late in 1944 behind the German lines in northern Italy to arrange the delivery of arms and other supplies to the Italian underground fighters—both Communist and non-Communist. Holohan was suspicious of the Communists. Icardi wanted the Communists to get arms.

Icardi hatched a plot to get rid of the major. Holohan was fed poison in his soup one night. Icardi, fearing it wouldn't finish him, drew cards or tossed a coin with Lo Dolce to see which would kill him. Lo Dolce lost and shot the major in the head. His body was dumped in 30 feet of water in Lake Orta.

Holohan's body was found in the lake in 1950, well preserved by the icy water. It had two bullet holes in the head.

Meanwhile, there were these events:

1. Icardi and Lo Dolce left the Army with honorable discharges. Icardi is a salesman in Pittsburgh now and wants to be a lawyer. Lo Dolce is a tool designer in Rochester.

2. Two Italians admitted they had a part in the killing and dumping the body in the lake. They were tried in Italy and acquitted.

Icardi, back in Pittsburgh and confronted with these charges, denied them and said the last time he had seen Holohan was during a skirmish with German troops. Lo Dolce also has continued to affirm his innocence.

IN 1953 A House Armed Services subcommittee investigated the case and called Icardi and Lo Dolce as witnesses. Lo Dolce avoided going. Icardi testified.

The subcommittee later reported there was enough evidence to indict Icardi and Lo Dolce. But it agreed with the Defense Department that there was no way to prosecute them in the U. S. for a crime in Italy.

This week a federal grand jury indicted Icardi—but not Lo Dolce, since he didn't testify in 1953—with committing perjury before the committee two years ago when, among other things, he denied:

Holohan was murdered, that he and Lo Dolce drew cards to determine which of them would kill the major, and that Icardi ordered an Italian partisan working with him to poison the major.

Great Highway Mystery

What is there about a seat behind the wheel of an auto that makes a man a stinker? Not an amateur or semi-pro stinker but a pro, certified and 100 per cent one? All the elemental rules of courtesy, restraint, good will, kindliness and tolerance disappear.

The man who takes off his hat in elevators, pats little children on the head and is nice to dogs, glares, leers, grimaces, shouts, curses and adopts "Mow 'em down!" as his motto toward young and old on the city streets.

The kid who is a model of politeness on his feet gets into a motor car and cries: "Gangway for a creepy character!"

Women who have just been to a PTA meeting, urging better manners for the small fry, tear off fenders, scream at children and scare pedestrians up trees on their way home. What goes?

IT SEEMS TO US that the auto picture has demonstrated that a human being, when given a sense of luxury, affluence and power, becomes an unbearable character, straight, place and show.

In a position to be tough, ruthless, inconsiderate and lord of all he surveys, his superiority complex goes for double or nothing. There are no more overbearing pompous, dangerous humans on the roads than you will find driving powerful instruments that call for wisdom, control and a regard for the other fellow.

Many a gent who has admirable qualities everywhere else becomes a punk in 3-D when driving a car. If we were trying to round up a top list of entries for the All-American Carnival of Heels, Popoffs, Loudmouths and Homicidal Nincompoops we would do it by standing on any street and watching motorists for no more than 15 minutes.

THERE ARE MILLIONS of drivers who could top honors among characters who shoot fish in barrels, poison dogs, trip up cripples, cut the leash on Seeing-Eye Dogs, set fire to orphan asylums, dance at funerals, shoot robins, tell funny stories at wakes, upset baby-carriages, play mean tricks on old ladies, cheat at solitaire, deal from the bottom of the deck, throw rocks at pigeons, put poison in guppy tanks, toss stink bombs into nurseries, drive nails into the tires of visiting nurses and pull tail feathers out of baby chicks. We prefer all those fellows on Post Office "Wanted" photos, most of the Rogues Gallery inmates, Billy the Kid, Jack the Ripper, Stinky the Hyena, and plenty of guys doing life stretches as killers.

In fact the latter seem comparatively refreshing. For how much longer can the "Oh, let's be a stinker!" mood be stood for? We're just asking. . . and asking it from a tree-top.

WALTER HOVING and Bonwit-Teller have acquired the famous jewelry house of Tiffany. . Well, the Bonwit store has been only a stone's throw away anyhow. . . Would you say the merger as a marriage in which there was no trouble whatever in getting a suitable ring?

American Sheep Producers Council has taken a poll on the matter of a national advertising campaign. . . Did anybody go to sleep counting sheep-poll votes? Come to think of it, sheep are not well advertised and could use a big time advertising campaign. . . They have had to depend on gags about insomnia and diplomas. Millions think of sheep as little white things that jump over the foot of beds. It is about time they were told that they produce meat, wool and Yuletide cards.

The fear of $64,000 Question sponsors is that some contestant will be so scared that her lips will turn WHITE. . . . The master of ceremonies can get fired fast if he ad libs "It's all done without a make-up."

News of Other Years

40 YEARS AGO — City Solicitor Warner had been authorized by the board of education to prepare the necessary documents to purchase the Thompson property on W. The passage of a new city ordinance providing for 30-degree angle parking on streets in the business district was declared illegal by City Solicitor Theodore B. Ochs. He said the ordinance was illegal because a three-fourths vote of council members, required when the rules are suspended to give an ordinance three readings, was lacking.

Appointment of two assistants in the county treasurer's office was announced by Homer D. Cole who the following week was to be sworn in as county treasurer. They were D. Edwin Lusch of Mary St. clerk, and Miss Georgia Kraner of near Claridon, stenographer.

An appeal to the Ohio Supreme Court to set aside decisions of the court of appeals and common pleas court restoring Police Chief William E. Marks to duty would not be made, Mayor C. A. Bolin, who removed him from his position a year previously, announced.

President Truman in Washington abolished the office of war information.

A Marion County youth, Gordon Eichhorn, a graduate of Pleasant High School, was among eight Ohio farm boys recommended to receive the American Farmer degree of the Future Farmers of America, the Ohio Association of FFA announced in Columbus.

The Marion Canteen for Servicemen at the Union Station would continue to operate indefinitely or until such a time as the transportation of troops was lessened to a point where the service was no longer needed, it was unanimously decided at a meeting of team captains and workers in the YMCA.

Ohio's 'Watchdog' Committee's Actions Under Fire

Highway Construction Group Rapped

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's highway construction council may be on the way out.

Criticism has hounded the council created by a Republican controlled Legislature as a sort of watchdog over a thoroughfare construction program financed by a half-billion dollar bond issue. Voters approved the bond issue in 1953.

Some critics blamed the council, appointed by Democrat Gov. Frank J. Lausche, for failing to approve long stretches of new four-lane highways linking major cities or crossing the state.

Others claimed the three-member body failed to act fast enough in approving new construction.

Council members disagreed with those contentions. Chairman Clingan Jackson, Youngstown newspaperman and former state senator, said the council has done a good job in the time it has been operating.

OTHER MEMBERS are Wilbur M. Cotton of Dayton, National Cash Register's head of community relations, and Jesse E. Van Fossen of Croton, a farmer who runs a seed company. They receive $50 a day and expenses while working.

A spokesman said council members could only approve or reject plans drafted by the state highway department. Plans must have the additional approval of the governor and Legislature to get construction started.

The highway department has concentrated on improving the worst sections of major highways and in modernizing stretches to accommodate swollen traffic.

ASSERTING THE size of an improvement lacks importance, Jackson said in a prepared statement: "What is important is how well it fits into the contemplated development of a highway system. As the program goes on, the projects tend to be larger. . . .

"The council has . . . refused approval for projects or for changes in projects only when it was not satisfied that the proposals fitted into a comprehensive plan for major thoroughfare capital improvements."

Bond money, limited to 125 million dollars a year for spending, will be used up by the end of 1960, Jackson reported. He said the council now is working up the 1958-59 program.

LEGISLATIVE LEADERS indicated approval of the program and final authorization for issuance of highway bonds might mean the end of the road for the council.

Chairman Roger Cloud called for a special Sept. 9 meeting of the Legislative Service Commission, a fact-finding body.

Cloud, Republican speaker of the House, said he would seek creation of a second highway study committee to look into road planning and financing. That would include council operations.

Should the committee recommend an end to the council, a Republican-dominated 1957 Legislature probably would approve, legislators guessed. They conceded that a Democrat-controlled General Assembly might take another course.

THE LAST LEGISLATURE asked the commission to study such highway problems as truck weight limits and right-of-way purchases. That committee and others will report recommendations to the next Legislature for action.

Jackson said he was aware of the possibility the Legislature might dissolve the council. But he expressed belief orderly procedure for highway construction required its continued existence or replacement by a similar body.

Bolstering his assertion, Jackson said the council had classified Ohio's 18,400 miles of highways and added: "You cannot freeze classification."

Men's Styles Next For Christian Dior

PARIS (UP) — Fashion czar Christian Dior has set out to influence men's wear.

The house of Dior has opened a boutique—with a special section for men's fashions.

"We are not opening a tailoring business — heaven forbid!" said a Dior aide. "But there is a lot more to men's dress than suits."

The men's section contains all the accessories the fashion-conscious man needs—ties, socks, handkerchiefs, colored and suede vests, suspenders, scarves. And leather pants.

"Nothing better for sportswear," a Dior spokesman said of the pants.

Most famed customer to date in the men's section has been Marlene Dietrich, the actress.

"She bought a pair of the leather pants—for herself," a salesgirl said. "They are in black and with her figure—well, she just gave them everything."

Will Dior go on to more basic designs in men's clothing?

"Who knows," said the aide, "This has been such a success—maybe."

Husband of Marionite Succumbs in California

Word has been received by friends in this area of the death in California recently of Richard Gierloff, 50, retired U.S. Navy officer and husband of a former Marion woman. The Gierloff home is at Vallejo, Calif.

Mrs. Gierloff is the former Miss Glenna Daum who lived on N. State St. in Marion before her marriage 16 years ago. Her husband was hospitalized six weeks, suffering from a heart ailment.

Funeral services with full military honors were conducted and burial was in Golden Gate National Cemetery at San Bruno, Calif.

BEULAH, Mich. (UP) — Seven traffic direction signs a mile from this northern Michigan resort community tell motorists how far Beulah is but each one has a different distance. Top sign on the post says, "Beulah, Colo. 1,476 Miles." Below it are signs that give the distance to Beulahs in North Dakota, Mississippi, Kansas and Missouri and the bottom sign says, "Beulah, Mich., 1 Mile."

Spurs Campaign Plans

New Cut in Farm Prices Brings Democratic Blast

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new 2 per cent drop in farm prices today spurred Democratic preparations for an all-out attack on Republican agricultural policies.

Announcing formation of a nationwide agricultural advisory committee, Clayton Fritchey, Deputy Democratic national chairman, said his party expects to start "going to town" on the farm issue this fall.

Important Issue

"We regard the farm price situation as one of the most important issues that will come up in the presidential campaign," he said. "We are getting ready to hit it hard."

Fritchey said the Democrats' advisory committee probably will include governors, members of congress and dirt farmers. He said it will be charged with preliminary work on a 1956 farm plank.

Democrats in Congress generally have supported a return to rigid, high-level price supports, as opposed to the Eisenhower administration's program of flexible supports.

Farm Prices Drop

In its monthly price survey, the Agriculture Department reported yesterday farm prices tumbled another 2 per cent in August. Approaching heavy harvesting and marketing seasons threatened further downturns before the end of the year.

The farm price level in mid-August averaged 233 per cent of the 1910-1914 base period—6 per cent below a year ago, 12.5 per cent below the start of the Eisenhower administration in 1953 and about 25 per cent below the record of February 1951 during the Korean War.

Heavy farm production, steadily increasing surpluses and reductions in federal price supports for some products have contributed to the price trend.

A GOP farm state lawmaker, who didn't want to be quoted by name, said he fears the continued decline in prices is shaking the confidence of the farmers in the Eisenhower program.

He said he regards this as "the one weak spot" in an otherwise booming economy. He added, that, while he doesn't believe it would affect materially Eisenhower's chances if he runs again, it might cause trouble for Republican candidates for the Senate and House.

The Republican legislator said he hopes nine GOP governors of midwestern states can come up with some concrete proposals at a meeting in Des Moines in October.

Gov. Leo Hoegh of Iowa has invited chief executives of Indiana, Wisconsin, Illinois, Nebraska, South Dakota, North Dakota, Wyoming and Kansas to discuss what can be done about farm prices.

France and Tunisia, meanwhile, p into effect their new conventions officially granting that protectorate internal autonomy and home rule.

Under its new status, Tunisia gradually will take over its own internal administration, including police and judicial functions. France retains control of foreign relations and defense matters and to some extent Tunisia's monetary policies.

Child Rearing Easy By the Half-Dozen

ITHACA, N. Y. (UP)—A famous woman author says its easier to bring up a half dozen children than one child. What's more, Mrs. Anna Wright of Upper Montclair, N. J., says it's more fun.

Mrs. Wright, who has three of her own youngsters and five "extras" by adoption, is author of the "Gentle House" which has been translated into 15 languages.

She spoke recently at Cornell University on methods of bringing up children. She says that adding children to the family doesn't mean that a complete change of pattern of living is necessary.

Mrs. Wright says that with a lot of youngsters around there is little time to focus much attention on any individual youngster, so no spoiled brats result.

Special Hours Set For City Employes

Temporary new hours for service and sanitation department workers for next week were announced today by Safety-Service Director John Davis.

The changes are for the purpose of providing department employes with a full holiday over the Labor Day weekend, he said.

There will be no garbage or refuse collection on Monday, Sept. 5, but employes will work from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday through Friday and from 7 a.m. to 12 noon on Saturday, Sept. 10, Davis said. The extra hours each day will permit the collection crews to make all their regular pick-ups by the end of the week, he added.

To help the collection crews, Davis further advised all sanitation department customers to place their garbage and refuse out where the men can find it easily.
